Our City comment & discussion

by
THOMAS D. WATSON

WRITING editorials in which the writer dares to call a spade a spade seems at times to be a thankless job.

There are times when the writer thinks that he has really accomplished something for his trouble.

This was demonstrated to us today by a supposed criticism of the article which we wrote regarding the levying by the council last year of $111,000 in excess taxes.

WE accepted these remarks as a compliment although they were intended as a criticism. The president of one of our local organizations was the party who made the remarks. His story being that a Los Angeles man in the course of a speech had criticized the giving of this item of news to the public and had been generously applauded for doing it.

WE do not wonder that a Los Angeles resident should not be in favor of our endeavor to reduce our local taxes, especially one in favor of annexation and his hearers, if the applause was given other than out of courtesy to the speaker, were probably of the same mind.

There has never been any question raised as to the truth of our claim as regards the excess tax collection and as the statement is a true statement of facts the public are entitled to know about it. The money was taken from their pockets and it should be of interest to them.

WE are not surprised that a Los Angeles man should take exception to us furnishing this news to the public, but we were surprised that the president of a local organization should take the same stand.

This particular organization should be just as much interested in the citizens and we are inclined to think that the president did not voice the sentiments of a majority of the members whom he is supposed to represent.

COOLIDGE PROCLAIMS DAY OF PRAYER

ALL DENOMINATIONS TO UNITE IN SERVICES IN MEMORY OF HARDING

Glendadians Called to Congregational Church Sunday Afternoon for Public Demonstration of Grief at Passing of the Late President

A memorial service for President Harding under the auspices of the Ministerial association of this city and in which all citizens are expected to unite will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Congregational church, corner of Central avenue and Wilson. The program will include:

LOS FELIZ OWNERS TO FIGHT SUITS

L. W. Chobe Issues Statement of the Owners' Side

TO PREVENT ACTION

The Los Feliz Tax Protective association has decided to fight the suits that have been brought in connection with the improvement of Los Feliz road by the brokerage firm of Steddom & Blanchard of Los Angeles, according to a joint statement made this morning by L. W. Chobe, chairman of the association, and G. H. Wende, attorney, this morning. The answers to the complaints entered by Attorney H. K. Smith, representing the brokerage firm, will be filed early next week.

"We believe it is impossible for them to collect certain parts of the money demanded," said Attorney Chobe, this morning.

Mr. Chobe said: "We have some of the big men of Glendale back of us in this deal and we are going to fight this thing to the limit."

Slight concessions, it is understood, were made at a conference in Los Angeles, yesterday, in the matter of the suits in the offices of Steddom & Blanchard in Los Angeles, at which the city of Glendale was represented by Councilman Asa Hall, City Attorney Ray Morrow and Mr. Wheeler of the engineering department, while Attorney G. H. Wende and L. W. Chobe, represented the Los Feliz Tax Protective association.

The conference developed that some 200 suits have been filed. The firm agreed not to bring suits against seventeen other property owners providing the Los Feliz Tax association would take them up immediately. This, the association, it is understood, refused to do. The company, according to Mr. Chobe, declined to give the association the names of these seventeen property owners.

The company, through its attorney, agreed to accept all but the attorney fees in connection with these suits, and would let a test case decide as to whether or not the company is entitled to the fees in question.

The company, according to Attorney Morrow, did not want to make a blanket promise with regard to all of the suits, but Attorney Smith made the assertion, says Mr. Morrow, that if each of the property owners would appear before him, he would judge each case separately on its merits and make whatever allowance he considered just.

Attorney Morrow considered this individual adjustment plan the logical method to pursue.

A meeting of all the local property owners situated in the assessment district, against whom suits have been filed or are pending, will be held in the office of Attorney G. H. Wende, room 1 of the Fulmer building, 102 East Broadway, at 11 o'clock Monday morning. Those who cannot be present at that time are asked to call at the same office between the hours of 9 and 2 o'clock of the same day.

AMERICAN LEGION ADJOURNS MEETING

Meeting of members of the American Legion post No. 127 of Glendale Friday night at the Glendale hall at 610 East Broadway, was promptly closed, out of respect to the late president, after a resolution was adopted to send a telegram of condolence to Mrs. Harding.

KIWANIS CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Members of the Kiwanis club of Glendale held their regular luncheon meeting on Friday at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, with President A. L. Ferguson in charge. There was a large attendance of members. Heber Winbur, lieutenant-governor of Riverside district, was a guest and gave a talk on Kiwanis work.

Lyman Clark gave a talk in memorial of President Harding. A resolution of sympathy from the Glendale Kiwanis club to Mrs. Harding was drawn up.

The main speaker of the day was Lon Haddock of the firm of Haddock & Nibley. He gave a very interesting talk on "Personality in Business."

GLENDALE FLAGS HALT AT HALF MAST

Recognition of the nation's calamity in the death of President Harding is being given by many establishments of Glendale. The flag is flying at half mast over the Masonic Temple, the Glendale Theater, the Telephone company, Kefauver Shoe Store, the Studebaker Agency, and several other places. Because the schools are not in session and the janitors on duty, flags are not flying on the campuses of city schools.

UNION HIGH TIED WITH CITY TEAMS

Winner in Series to Be Determined by Later Series

G. U. H. S. night school and the city teams are tied for the championship of the first series of evening baseball games that have been played during the past two months on the high school grounds under the direction of Glendale Community Service and closed Friday night. The winner between these two teams will be determined next week by a two-out of three series, the first two games being played Tuesday and Thursday evening of next week. The winner will receive a silver trophy which was contributed by J. C. Smith, local manager of the Standard Oil company.

The standings of the various teams in the league are as follows:
Team.....Won Lost
Night School.....7 1
City.....7 1
Newton Electric.....6 2
Postoffice.....4 4
Ford.....4 4
M. E. Church.....4 4
Legion.....2 6
Standard Oil.....2 6
Christian Church.....0 7

A new series will begin August 13. There is an opportunity for other teams that have not been in the other series to come in at this time. The next series promises to be even more interesting than the first because all the teams have had considerable practice and have been able to place their men to the best advantage.

Any individuals or teams wishing to enter should communicate with the Community Service office, Glen 3070.

GLENDALE PRESS PRESENTS MOVIE NEWS FEATURE

A big feature of intense interest at the Gateway theatre tonight and Sunday will be the animated news reel, provided by the Glendale Press special service, of the presentation of the traveling Beausant to Hollywood Commandery Thursday afternoon in Hollywood bowl in the presence of thousands of interested spectators. The outstanding figure in the ceremonial was Secretary Christian, representing President Harding who was to have made the presentation as the representative of the Marion, Ohio, Commandery, the last custodian of the emblem.

The occasion was the more noble because, although he was not present in person, the last speech written by President Harding was there delivered and it will be a sacred memory to all who heard it even though it came through the medium of another.

SCOTS' MEETING NOTES PASSING OF PRESIDENT

The chief business of the meeting of Scots held Friday night at American Legion hall was the passage of resolutions deploring the death of President Harding and voicing sympathy for Mrs. Harding and the nation. These were ordered spread upon the minutes. After a report by Mr. Gilhuly, chairman of the social and outing committee, the meeting adjourned. Mr. Gilhuly set for the program which is being arranged for the picnic to be held August 12 at Glendale-Verdugo Park for Scots members and their families. He stated that it would be an all-day affair, each family to bring its own lunch, which would be supplemented by ice cream and soft drinks served by the organization. The entertainment would include, he said, races and sports of various kinds for which valuable prizes will be offered.

FORTS BOOM SORROW OF THE NATION

Army and Navy Big Guns Begin All Day Salute

COOLIDGE IS BUSY

Washington Makes Ready for Funeral Set for Wednesday

[By Associated Press]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—Flags over government buildings, army and navy posts, and elsewhere continued today to fly at half mast. At Jaybreak army forts of the posts throughout the country began firing of an all-day salute, beginning with 13 guns, at half hour intervals single shots were to be fired until sundown when there will be a final salute of 48 guns. Orders also had been issued for suitable alutes by the navy. Steadily messages of condolences to Mrs. Harding continued to pour into the White House. With the return of Mrs. Harding only three days off, feverish efforts are being made to put the executive mansion in readiness.

As the Harding funeral train moved eastward today, President Coolidge devoted his attention to plans for fitting services here.

Going immediately on arrival to the hotel suite which he and Mrs. Coolidge will occupy until they begin their residence in the White House, the new president went into conference with Secretary Hughes, Ambassador General New and Senator Curtis, the republican whip.

Mr. Coolidge expects to accompany the funeral party to Marion, leaving here Wednesday night. Until his return to Washington he is not expected to devote much attention to other matters.

As soon as the funeral ceremonies are ended, the resignations of all members of the Harding cabinet will be handed in as a matter of form. It is not expected that any of them will be accepted.

For the present, Mr. Coolidge has indicated he will transact official business in an office set aside for him in his hotel and in the vice president's suite at the capitol.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge have expressed themselves as preferring to remain in the hotel suite, which has been their home here since March, 1921, and in a telegram sent late yesterday they urged Mrs. Harding to remain under the White House roof as long as it suits her convenience. The message expressed the hope of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge that as long as they remained in the White House, Mrs. Harding would consider it also her home.

The Hardings made the White House more of a home than some predecessors. Furniture and other furnishings which they had accumulated at Marion were brought to the official mansion months ago in quantities estimated as sufficient to fill several trucks.

All these things remain untouched today and will be left so it was declared, until Mrs. Harding herself can direct their disposition. The fittings and accommodations and property belonging to the residence were said to be adequate for President Coolidge's family at any moment they might desire to occupy the mansion.

PASADENA YOUTH FINDS BEATING POLICE IS HARD

To be arrested twice within days and before his case comes to trial is the record made by Frank J. Baker, 1080 Arden avenue, Pasadena, according to the police department. Judge Lowe stated this morning that young Baker, who is 16 years of age, was arrested the first time for traveling 40 miles an hour and that his second offense was traveling 37½ miles an hour on Broadway. The initial charge against him is speeding, while the second charge is reckless driving.

When Judge Lowe learned that Baker is a juvenile he turned the case over to Judge Hahn of the Juvenile Court of Los Angeles. Baker was taken to the county jail yesterday, according to police records.

FINED FOR INTOXICATION

J. Carscaden of 906 South Broadway, Los Angeles, who was arrested several days ago on a charge of intoxication, was fined $20 when he appeared before Judge Lowe Friday afternoon.

Calvin Coolidge, Jr., Works in the Field at $3.50 Per Day

[By Associated Press]

HARFIELD, Mass., Aug. 4.—While President Coolidge was enroute to Washington yesterday, Calvin Coolidge, Jr., was at work under a hot sun in a tobacco field. Calvin Jr., 14 years old, attired in khaki trousers, an old shirt and well-worn shoes, was working for $3.50 a day. The day is 9 full hours. He said that the elevation of his father to the presidency should make no change in his mode of life.

MONTROSE LINE DEPOT SITE BOUGHT

Bids Are to Be Asked for Construction on Tuesday

P. L. Hatch, superintendent of the Glendale-Montrose line, reports that the prospects of having the Glendale avenue extension in operation by January are even brighter than they were when construction work began following the granting of the franchise for a spur tractive passenger station which is to be built on Glendale avenue has been purchased and bids for the building will be opened next Tuesday. Cars have been purchased and the project at every angle is moving satisfactorily.

Mr. Hatch returned a few days ago from a trip to Santa Barbara to inspect some rolling stock which the Santa Barbara Suburban railway is offering for sale. As a result of the inspection he purchased a car which will seat 50 people, with central entrance and conventional low step. It was manufactured by the American Car company and is designed for one or two men operation.

The company is taking a look ahead to prepare itself for increased traffic demands by the purchase of bigger cars. Said Mr. Hatch, in telling of the purchase: "If this service of the extended Glendale-Montrose line is as popular as it ought to be, we will have to use two-men cars. We want to try out this style of car and if we like it, will buy more of them."

"Santa Barbara has an interurban service for which the small one-man cars are adequate, and so his bigger cars of this type have been taken off the line."

"We are having to use new cars made in St. Louis, on which we are promised delivery November. These will have an exit and entrance at the front right hand corner and will seat 55 people each. They are of a type which can be operated by one or two men, and if the traffic should become heavy, two men will be employed. The bodies are built along the same lines as the 'safety cars' we now have in operation, but they have double trucks and will ride steadily and comfortably."

"The car purchased in Santa Barbara will be delivered Monday, and will be re-painted red to make it conform to the Glendale-Montrose colors."

"The company has also bought a Baldwin locomotive with Westinghouse electrical equipment weighing 50 tons. That will be used to haul freight between Glendale Park and Glendale and it will be equal to pulling as many freight cars as a steam locomotive. We were able to get a very good delivery on this and expect it to reach Glendale the early part of December. The prospect that the line will be in operation by January 1 is even brighter than it was when the Los Angeles franchise was granted and we began work."

"The franchise was for a spur siding in Los Angeles to facilitate the transfer of freight from the main line of the Union Pacific, which is steam operated, to the electric line, at a point where the two lines come close together."

"As to the depot on Glendale avenue, the railroad company has purchased a 50-foot lot (No. 7) on the corner of Glendale and Broadway, the papers for which are in escrow. Next Tuesday bids will be opened for the construction of a one-story, cement block building with an art-stone front and green tile roof. It will have a frontage of 50 feet and depth of 60 feet, and will provide a central waiting room 20 feet wide with two store rooms each 15 feet wide on either side which will be rented."

THE WEATHER

Southern California: Fair tonight and Sunday, except cloudy or foggy in morning near coast; moderate westerly winds.

First Act of New Chief Executive Is to Commemorate the Memory of Predecessor in Office and the Good Qualities He Showed While in Office

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—(By the Associated Press) The proclamation of President Coolidge announcing the death of President Harding and calling upon the country to observe next Friday, August 10, as the day of mourning and prayer, follows:

"By the president of the United States of America to the people of the United States:

"In the wisdom of Divine Providence, Warren Gamaliel Harding, 29th president of the United States, has been taken from us. The nation has lost a wise and enlightened statesman and the American people a true friend and counselor whose whole public life was inspired with the desire to promote the best interests of the United States and the welfare of all its citizens. His private life was marked by gentleness and brotherly sympathy and by the charm of his personality he made friends of all who came in contact with him.

"It is meet that the deep grief which fills the heart of the American people should find fitting expression.

"Now, therefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, president of the United States of America, do appoint Friday, next, August 10, the day on which he laid in the dead president will place, as a day of mourning and prayer throughout the United States. I earnestly recommend the people to assemble on that day in their respective places of divine worship, there to bow down in submission of the will of Almighty God and to pay out of full heart the homage and love and reverence to the memory of the great and good president, whose death has so sorely smitten the nation.

"In witness I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington, the fourth day of August, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, and of the Independence of the United States, the one hundred and forty-eighth.

"By the President,
"CALVIN COOLIDGE,
"Secretary of State.

"The White House,
"Washington, Aug. 4, 1923."
Secretary Hughes made public an order directing that by order of President Coolidge all executive departments will be closed on Tuesday, August 7, at and after 1 o'clock p. m., on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, August 8, 9 and 10.

Under executive orders signed by President Coolidge there will be no official entertainments until next December 1, while formal calls of organizations or of officials in a body at the White House will be deferred until after September 3.

Flags on all public buildings will remain at half-mast until the close of Monday, September 3, or during the 30-day period of national mourning.

SUPERINTENDENT WHITE INSPECTS SCHOOL FURNITURE

All of Friday and a part of the day before was devoted by Superintendent R. D. White to the inspection of school furniture offered by the various bidders for the contract to supply furniture for the new school rooms the board is building. He found a great variation in quality and models and will make his recommendations to the board at its next meeting. The board under the law is permitted to take quality and other features into account and is not obliged to accept the lowest bid, regardless of these considerations.

"UNAVOIDABLE" IS VERDICT IN DEATH OF LEONARD GLENN

"Unavoidable accident" was the verdict at the coroner's inquest held over the body of Leonard Glenn at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Kiefer & Eyerick undertaking establishment when D. M. Alcott, driver of the tractor during the accident, was exonerated from all blame.

COOLIDGE ARRANGES FUNERAL

State Ceremony to Be Held on Wednesday It Is Announced

President Calvin Coolidge today officially took over control of the government of the United States. In a temporary White House on the third floor of the New Willard hotel the new president performed the first functions of his new office.

The first official act of his administration was to set the funeral arrangements for his chief who died.

Immediately upon his arrival, Mr. Coolidge summoned the members of his cabinet who are in town—Secretary of State Hughes and Postmaster General Harry S. New.

It was decided that the body of the late president will be met by the new executive and members of his official family—the same official family which functioned for Mr. Harding—and escort it to the White House when it arrives here Tuesday.

The state funeral will take place on Wednesday, when the body of Mr. Harding will be taken down Pennsylvania avenue, where he rode a little more than two years ago for his inaugural, to the capitol, where it will lie in state in the great rotunda.

The display that goes with the funeral of a chief of state will be seen when the cortege moves from the White House to the capitol. There will be a military band playing the funeral march and an escort of soldiers, pacing slowly. Members of the supreme court, congressmen, diplomats and representatives of every phase of Washington's official life will be in the procession, according to the plans which were announced shortly after Mr. Coolidge reached Washington.

At the capitol the catafalque will be placed beneath the great dome in the rotunda where others of the nation's dead have lain in solemn state. Soldiers and sailors, arms grounded, heads bowed, will stand on guard around the casket. After the funeral services, the people will be admitted to pay their last respects to the dead president and to lay wreaths beside him. Then at 6 p. m. the body will be removed to the funeral train and started for Marion, O., for interment.

PACIFIC AVENUE SCHOOL PERMIT IS TAKEN OUT

A building permit was taken out Friday by the Board of Education for an addition to the Pacific Avenue School to cost $33,936.

This, it is understood, will be of brick, and the structure will be completed as soon after the opening of the new year as possible. George W. Campbell is the contractor. It is believed this building will take care of the pupils desiring to enter this school for some time to come.

ILLUSTRIOUS DEAD MOVES TO THE EAST

Special Funeral Train Is Speeding Across Nevada State

MOURNING ON WAY

Somber Lane of Grieving Nation Formed Along the Route

By LAWRENCE MARTIN.
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT HARDING FUNERAL TRAIN, AUG. 4.—Bearing as its precious freight the nation's illustrious dead, shrouded in sorrow and weariest, the special funeral train carrying President Harding's body to Washington was speeding across Nevada today.

Almost every mile of the way from San Francisco has furnished evidence of the nation's sorrow. All through the night as the train plucked on at a speed equalled only by the crack overland fliers, men, women and children could be seen standing along the track, the men bare headed and all wearing a hushed and reverent look.

The flag draped casket rests in the same car in which the late president journeyed across the continent on his way to Alaska. At its head and foot the guards of honor—two soldiers and two sailors—stand rigidly at attention.

As the presidential funeral train crosses the full breadth of the beauteous country, millions will observe its passing. In the lighted car there is a profusion of flowers. There is a simple casket of flowers with "Warren G. Harding" inscribed on its small silver plate. It is guarded by soldiers, sailors and marines chosen from the detachments that accompanied President Harding on the Henderson. Though the train will not pause for ceremony, it will proceed at a slower pace through towns and cities. Only for operating requirements will it halt before reaching the capital.

The crowds that stood in the night were obviously moved by the passing presence, for no sound came from them. They stood in mute respect as the train with the flag draped coffin in the last car went by.

In the same car was the brave and tragic figure of Mrs. Harding, facing still several days of need to keep fighting her grief, still too much in the public eye to be allowed to go away by herself with her sorrow.

It was impossible for Mrs. Harding to rest as she needs to rest. Her nerves are too unstrung for quiet sleep, her heart throbbing too painfully to the new wound to permit her the repose that she should have. But her spirit was unbroken, her pulse unimpaired.

Mrs. Harding gives new evidence almost every hour of the magnificence of her courage. Other members of the party, worn out with grief and loss of sleep, rested today.

It was the calm courage of Mrs. Harding—a quiet, steady going courage that contained no hint of heroics—that caused all arrangements for the first simple funeral services and for the removal of the president's body from the hotel suite in San Francisco to the train, to run as smoothly as the dignity of Mr. Harding's wife and his countrymen would have wished.

Through all the trying time since she awoke from an exhausted, disturbed sleep into which she finally sank after midnight on the night the president died, Mrs. Har-

W. C. T. U. MARKS MEMORY OF THE PRESIDENT

Good Portion of Program Held at Palmer Home Dedicated to Sorrow

A goodly portion of the session of the city W. C. T. U. held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Palmer on East Colorado was in memory of President Harding. Mrs. R. W. Mottern, who had charge of devotions, read the 146th Psalm and verses from one of the books of Samuel, beginning, "How are the mighty fallen." She made appropriate comments on the death of President Harding and a special prayer was offered for Mrs. Harding, the relatives of the dead president and for President Coolidge and the nation.

Announcement was made of state W. C. T. U. day at the Chautauque being held at the Palisades in Santa Monica canyon, August 8 is the day assigned. A fine program has been prepared and a large attendance of W. C. T. U. members and their friends is expected.

In the absence of Mrs. Bacon, "Studies in Government" were conducted by Mrs. Dockeray, who made the lesson very interesting.

"I saw it through." It was her calm self control that made it possible for the others to play their parts in the hurried arrangements for departure without having to worry about how the president's wife would act. She herself directed the arrangements for the funeral services at the Palace hotel.

Her quiet thoughtfulness made things wonderfully easy for those who would have been considerate of her.

The doctors and nurses who attended her awakening marvelled at the will with which she came back to the world from which her husband had suddenly been taken and arose and dressed and set about the necessary planning for the services.

On the arm of George B. Christian, who had been President Harding's secretary, the late executive's wife entered the sunlit parlor, where the little party had gathered late yesterday afternoon to pray a while for their friend who lay in the simple rosewood coffin with its draping of flags.

Mrs. Harding was in mourning, but not an over-emphasized mourning. Just a simple black dress and a black hat with a wide brim. Her face was composed. She stood upright while the clergyman's voice went on—"man that is born of woman."

It was when the prayer began that Mrs. Harding's emotion first made itself visible; tears welled in her eyes, but Mrs. Christian slipped quietly to her side and took her hand and there was no break in the service. A moment later Mrs. Harding had herself completely in control.

SON IS BORN TO THE GREERS

An 8-pound son was born Wednesday, August 1, to Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Greer of 548 West Broadway at the Glendale Sanitarium. Mr. Greer is account executive of the Don B. Miner Advertising Agency of Los Angeles.

BOOKS OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION BEING AUDITED
Walter K. Mitchell, expert accountant, who audits the books of the county board of education and seven incorporated charter cities, is now engaged in auditing the books of the Glendale board of education. The whole of yesterday was spent upon the minutes of the board of education. The whole of yesterday was spent upon the minutes of the board, and the next two weeks will probably be given to the accounts. A force of men works under Mr. Mitchell and these are now checking the payrolls of the board with the records in the county auditor's office.

COOLIDGE ANNOUNCES ATTITUDE

Declares to Press All the Matters of Policy to Stand

NO RESIGNATIONS

Everything to Remain Unaltered Until Nation Buries Its Dead

TEMPORARY WHITE HOUSE, NEW WILLARD HOTEL, WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—All matters of national policy and government will stand temporarily as they are, President Coolidge announced today in his first conference with newspapermen.

No changes will be made nor any public commitment of the new administration until after the funeral of President Harding has been completed.

The president does not believe that any public announcement on the business of the new government should be made at this time. Things will stand as they are until contrary announcements are made. This includes the Mexican recognition negotiations and all diplomatic affairs.

Mr. Coolidge is determined to carry on without change to such an extent that for the time being Bigadier General Sawyer, personal physician of President Harding, and George B. Christian, Jr., his secretary, will continue in their offices.

The president has given no thought as yet to men to fill their places.

A proclamation will be issued by him at 1 p. m. concerning the death of his former chief.

A hundred newspapermen crowded into a white paneled room in the New Willard for Mr. Coolidge's first press conference. The president met each of them at the door, greeting by name those he knew. He answered questions readily but he was determined that the impression should not be gleaned that any transition in government was to take place because he had succeeded to the presidency.

It was denied that any of the members of Mr. Harding's cabinet had submitted their resignations. It was indicated that as a matter of formality all would offer to resign.

In this connection it was said the president would stand on the announcement he made a few minutes after he had been notified of Mr. Harding's death. This announcement said:

"Those who have given their efforts to assist him I wish to remain in office that they may assist me."

The room where the newspapermen were received contrasted strangely to the executive offices at the White House where President Harding, always with a vase of American Beauty roses on his desk, met the reporters for his weekly conferences. The windows were closed and perspiration gleamed on the brow of the president.

He wore a light grey suit with a blue tie and looked just as he always had on the rostrum of the senate. To begin the conference, the president, standing in the center of the sweltering group, talked with his tight-lipped Yankee accent as if he spoke in grim determination. He did not smile once. His lean New England face was expressionless. He seemed to sense the dramatic pitch of his first touch as president with the men who will record the workings of his administration.

Realizing the "news angle" of the conference, Mr. Coolidge first made the announcement that there would be no change in policies. In that connection also he stood by the statement made in Vermont, which referred to this question in these words:

"It will be my purpose to carry out the policies which he (President Harding) had begun for the services of the American people and for meeting their responsibilities wherever they may arise. When the president was asked whether he would give the regular semi-weekly press conferences the same as Mr. Harding, he replied that he would and that the executive offices would be open at all times for the newspaper men as representatives of the public."

"This is your government," he said in effect. The press can exercise a greater helpful influence over the administration of it."

He expects helpful co-operation, the president said.

Further details of the funeral are in charge of Secretary of State Hughes and Col. Sherrill, it was announced.

No cabinet meetings have yet been planned as the members are scattered many miles from Washington and the president does not desire to interfere with any arrangements they have made unless there is a real necessity for it. It was denied specifically that the president had received any cabled resignations of cabinet members from abroad. This referred to a report that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Secretary of Labor Davis had sent over their formal resignations.

As the president talked, Secretary of the Navy Denby stood at his right shoulder. He returned this morning from Michigan.

IBANEZ' ENEMIES OF WOMEN' OPENS SUNDAY, T. D. & L.

"Enemies of Women," Cosmopolitan corporation's production of the Vicente Blasco Ibanez story of the same title, with Lionel Barrymore and Alma Rubens featured in the two leading roles, opens at the T. D. & L. theatre on Sunday, continuing Monday and Tuesday. Alma Crossland was the director. Joseph Urban designed the settings and John Lynch prepared the scenario. With many of its scenes taken on the actual locations of the story in Monte Carlo, Nice and Paris and with a lavishness of production never surpassed, the film promises to excel the average "super production" in every way.

Blasco Ibanez proved in his brilliant "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and "Blood and Sand" that his stories have particular screen quality. Perhaps his ability in colorful description of characters and scenes is responsible for the ease with which his stories have been brought to the screen. In "Enemies of Women," the drama of regeneration of man and woman, is laid in the background of Russian society life, shifting to Monte Carlo and thence to Paris. Under the revels of Russian courtesans the tragedy of the gaming tables at Monte Carlo and the love of a man and woman, there is the constant rumbling of the cannons of war. The story has practically every element in it required for a great screen drama.

Joseph Urban has designed magnificent settings for the Russian palace of Prince Lubimoff, the French villa of Alicia, a replica of the Casino and the Monte Carlo home of the Prince.

Alan Crossland, the director, has had his opportunities in a number of fete, fight, fashion and emotional scenes as well as in big war episode. Besides the two featured players the cast includes Pedro de Cordoba, W. H. Thompson, Gareth Hughes, Gladys Hulette, William Collier, Jr., Mario Majeroni, Paul Panzer and Betty Bouton.

KRESS WELCOMED BY BIG CROWD OF CITIZENS

Glendale showed its appreciation of the establishment of a real metropolitan store by turning out in great numbers this morning for the opening of the Kress 5-10-25-cent store in the Lawson building on Brand and Wilson. As soon as the doors were thrown back they swarmed into the aisles and began active buying. As fast as an army of girl clerks could wait upon them the stock began to disappear. Especially busy were the clerks delegated to dispense the thermos bottles offered for 50 cents, one to a customer, but no counter lacked for patrons.

In the completeness of its stock and personnel of its staff it duplicates the stores established by the Kress corporation in Los Angeles and all the big cities. In other words, it was born full fledged. Evidently it is the kind of a market the women of Glendale enjoy patronizing and unless all estimates go awry, it will do a huge business today.

SUNDAY PROGRAM

"The Heart of Wotona," the latest of the Norma Talmadge revivals, offers the talented star one of the best roles she has ever undertaken. Supported by Thomas Meighan and a notable cast which includes Gladden James, Fred Huntley and several excellent Indian actors, Miss Talmadge has created a real screen classic.

The story is from the talented pen of George Scarborough and was originally written as a starring vehicle for Lenore Ulric and proved one of the most successful stage plays ever produced by David Belasco. It is a story of a half Indian girl, who has been wronged by the man she loves. She refuses to tell the name of her lover and Hardin, the agent in charge of the reservation (Thomas Meighan) is accused of being Wotona's lover. Hardin is in love with Wotona but has kept it a secret because he has never been given any encouragement. To protect Wotona, Hardin marries her. She is ousted from the tribe. Wotona later learns that she loves Hardin and not her betrayer, so with her father's forgiveness and a real man's love she is made happy.

"The Heart of Wotona" opens at the Glendale theatre on Sunday for a three days' engagement.

The dark ages are those pertaining to women of unquestionable years.

NEGRO DAYS OR DOG DAYS?

The person who says the month of August constitutes "dog days" is all wrong. Today is Negro day in Kentucky. It was way back in 1865, on August 4 that the state of Kentucky ratified the emancipation proclamation. Texas followed on August 7, and the other southern states brought their stamp of approval down upon the act at various dates during August. Consequently in the south, it might be said that the colored people and dogs have a few things in common—the days of August.

NORTHERN TRIP OF FIELDS IS FINISHED

North Louise Folks Are Back at Their Home in Glendale

Mrs. F. A. Field and Miss Field of 133 North Louise street, accompanied by Mr. F. E. Maddox, have just returned from a two week auto trip. The short coast route was followed by way of Salinas, Gilroy, San Jose and Oakland. Three days were spent about the bay. One beautiful drive was enjoyed over the Walnut Creek road, through the tunnel and around the loop by Haywards and back to Oakland. This is one of the short scenic trips, through beautiful hills and valleys occupied by little farms. San Lorenzo was an interesting suburb, for several years ago Rev. E. A. Field supplied the little church there. The suburb grew up about the Meek ranch—a large fruit ranch, covering several hundred acres of cherries, currants, apples and pears, which is now being subdivided into city lots. From Berkeley the trip led north to Martinez, across the ferry, and up to Napa. Here a stop of two days was enjoyed with Ralph E. Goodsell, a cousin of the family, who is the owner of a Y service station, located at the corner of crossroads, one road to San Francisco, another to Sacramento, and a third to the Napa valley. The three sides are well patronized. Sacramento was reached just as General Gouraud was being entertained. One day was enough at the capitol, although the weather was very comfortable for the summer time.

Old Sutter's Fort is an attractive place, since it has been restored and kept in order by the Native Sons organization.

The return was made to Napa and then on to Calistoga. Here the big geyser spouting one hundred and fifty feet of boiling water entertained the company. A tiny geyser spouted twenty-five feet or more, but little attention was paid to that. Some of the visitors stopped to cook eggs and boil coffee in the boiling stream of water. Other large geysers are capped and only allowed to spout occasionally. This one emits water every hour or less.

The party started for Eureka but found that real boulevards do not exist far north. A bad detour of nine miles brought the party to Willits, Calif., about one hundred and fifty miles north of San Francisco. A watchman on the road, who had lived in the mountain region for twelve years, said more than five hundred machines had passed over the road in one day, so it is used, you see. He made the statement it would be ten years before a paved boulevard ran from California to Oregon.

A passing autoist reported a detour farther north, so we turned back to find real paved highway. From Ukiah the short trip was made to Vichy Springs. The water just bubbles from the rock and often whistles as it comes to the surface. A number of people were at the bath, but after a taste of the nippy water we decided to go on.

The trip home was made through the Santa Cruz mountains. Big Trees, etc., and the scenery there is superb. The road is a marvel and every turn brings a beautiful picture.

Monterey, Pacific Grove, and the beautiful seventeen-mile drive along the coast, bathed in fog, was cooling after the heat of the Napa valley.

We intended to spend one night at Pismo Beach, but alas, hot clam chowder was all we wanted, and then to hurry away from the dense fog.

We saw the results of several severe accidents, but our trip was without mishap, and the tires, thanks to the Hooper company, only needed air once or twice and no other attention.

Then on our real pleasure in a northern trip and that is lack of traffic. The farther north you go the freer the roads.

Several changes in officers was made at the regular meeting of the Glendale Lodge of Pythian Sisters held Friday night at the K. of P. hall at Park avenue and South Brand boulevard. Mrs. F. J. Willett resigned as mistress of finance and was elected as manager. Mrs. Eleanor Fenster was elected as planist. Mrs. Ed. Johnson resigned as outer guard and was elected mistress of finance.

Balloting on candidates for membership was taken up at the business session. Mrs. Kline and Mr. Allison were accepted and will be initiated at the next meeting. After the business session a luncheon was served to the members present.

INTERESTING GOLF MATCH IS HELD

An interesting golf match was held last Wednesday afternoon between Frank R. Harding and John Schinner, financiers of Long Beach, versus Theodore Belanger and A. E. Baron of Montrose. This match was held at the Griffith links.

The men from Long Beach were victorious but the contestants will play another match in the near future at the Virginia Country Club in Long Beach. Following the game the wives of the respective combatants served dinner to the men. Mr. Theodore Belanger is a well known business man, as he is the proprietor of the Montrose pharmacy.

Glen Eyrle chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, had the services at the Little Church of the Flowers at 2 o'clock with Miss Mildred Irene Lyon, worthy matron, in charge. A special section had been reserved for members of the Eastern Star and White Shrine, all of whom were dressed in white.

Mrs. Fannie Maple Retts sang "Star of the East." The numerous bouquets and set pieces attested the high esteem in which Mrs. Burke was held by her large circle of friends and lodge sisters.

The pall bearers were members of Glen Eyrle chapter, O. E. S., and Omar tent No. 9, White Shrine of Jerusalem, and included Mrs. Margaret Tennant, Mrs. Evelyn Pierce, Mrs. Jennie Phillips, Mrs. D. Ripley Jackson, Mrs. Constance Bourne and Mrs. Nanna Custer. Each carried a copy of the White Shrine carder.

A sprig of coronopis which they placed on the casket as they passed by. The Little Church of the Flowers was filled to overflowing.

Rev. C. A. Cole had charge of the short service at the grave. The procession from the church to the grave was led by Miss Lyon, Mrs. Mae Varrick and Rev. Cole.

Mrs. Burke passed away on Tuesday morning, July 31, 1923, at the age of 30 years, following a short illness of a few days which necessitated a major operation. Besides her husband she leaves two daughters, Maurine and Kathleen, also her parents and brothers and sisters.

G. S. Govey Undertaking company had charge of the funeral.

PARLIAMENTARY CLUB MEETS AT THE LIBRARY

The Parliamentary Law Study club of Glendale held its regular meeting Friday morning at the public library on Harvard street.

Mrs. O. H. Spradling, acting president, opened the meeting at an o'clock sharp in order that the members would be able to complete all the work scheduled.

After the usual business meeting the study hour was turned over to Mrs. Harry Greenwalt. A motion was made before study began to Mrs. Rose who asked that all the members hesitate two minutes in honor of the death of President Harding. After this observance of sorrow Mrs. Greenwalt suggested that this two minutes' hesitation be followed by the Lord's prayer.

The business of the morning was then taken up. The topic of discussion at this time was "The Efficient Secretary and Press Chairman." Each member was asked to take part and give a short talk on this subject.

Visitors were present at the session: Mrs. John Robert White of Glendale and Mrs. Wallace E. Bruce, who is the vice-president of General Henry Roberts' Parliamentary Club of Los Angeles. Mrs. Bruce was asked to give a short talk and she responded with an interesting speech on the efficient secretary.

Mrs. Robert White took up the idea of continuing the club's work during the winter. She urged the members to further this aim and to do all in their power to boost it. In her talk she complimented Mrs. Greenwalt, instructress of the class, upon her excellent coaching work.

Following these talks Mrs. Whitney, official president of the club, called the meeting to a close. New members taken in at this session were: Mrs. A. B. Adkins, Mrs. K. B. Sutton, Mrs. L. L. Smartney, J. N. Cowley and Mrs. M. S. Boyles. This brings the total membership to about thirty. All women of Glendale and vicinity who are interested along this line of study are invited to join.

Pythian Sisters Elect Mrs. Willett as Their Manager

Several changes in officers was made at the regular meeting of the Glendale Lodge of Pythian Sisters held Friday night at the K. of P. hall at Park avenue and South Brand boulevard. Mrs. F. J. Willett resigned as mistress of finance and was elected as manager. Mrs. Eleanor Fenster was elected as planist. Mrs. Ed. Johnson resigned as outer guard and was elected mistress of finance.

Balloting on candidates for membership was taken up at the business session. Mrs. Kline and Mr. Allison were accepted and will be initiated at the next meeting. After the business session a luncheon was served to the members present.

INTERESTING GOLF MATCH IS HELD

An interesting golf match was held last Wednesday afternoon between Frank R. Harding and John Schinner, financiers of Long Beach, versus Theodore Belanger and A. E. Baron of Montrose. This match was held at the Griffith links.

The men from Long Beach were victorious but the contestants will play another match in the near future at the Virginia Country Club in Long Beach. Following the game the wives of the respective combatants served dinner to the men. Mr. Theodore Belanger is a well known business man, as he is the proprietor of the Montrose pharmacy.

PHONE EXCHANGE GROWS BEYOND SUPPLIES

$174,000 to Be Spent in District During Year, Says Deal

Glendale telephone exchange is growing faster in actual added instruments than any city of the same classification served by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, according to Fred Deal, local manager. The growth this year will cost the company $174,000, which, Mr. Deal declared, is a greater amount than spent in a year by the company in the history of Glendale. The company will spend upwards of $25,000 more in Glendale this year than in 1922 which was considered a banner year.

National telephone cable shortage, according to Mr. Deal, limits the telephone expansion in Glendale just as it is slowing down in other cities in the country where there is considerable demand for rapid telephone growth.

Mr. Deal's statement follows: "Glendale exchange is ahead of every other Pacific Telephone and Telegraph exchange of comparative size in actual additions of telephones during the first four months of 1923. The actual gain in telephone stations for the period was greater than the vast majority of cities of the same group by hundreds of telephones. The group includes all Bell System exchanges on the Pacific Coast numbering from 2,500 to 5,000 telephones.

"This gain in telephones during such a short period well tells the story of the tremendous growth of Glendale. The fact that the telephone system of a city increased in size 10.18 per cent during the first four months of 1923 is a record for both the city and the telephone company.

"Here is what the telephone company's $174,000 will put in the city of Glendale this year: Central office power plant additions, $15,000; additional switchboard equipment, $35,000; additions to outside plant along Verdugo canyon into the Los Angeles section, $19,000;

JAMES W. FOLEY

THE SPANKING

Irate mother sometimes yanks him
From the place he is and spans him;
On her waiting lap she turns him.
And she spans him till it burns him.
And he twists and squirms and wriggles,
Pulls and pants and cries and wiggles,
And says when the spanking's o'er:
"I won't do it any more."

Ah, so often I have heard him,
When the punishment has stirred him,
Heard the hand of her who yanked him
Smacking, smacking as she spanked him;
Heard him promise he would never
Be a naughty boy, not ever,
Tingling, smarting, hurting sore:
"I won't do it any more."

Yes, I've said it too, long after
Boyhood with its play and laughter,
When the hand of Fate has yanked me
From the place I was and spanked me.
I have said it, tingling, burning,
Wriggling, wiggling, twisting, turning,
With my heart so hurt and sore:
"I won't do it any more."

Life's alike, in all its phases,
And the spanking hand that raises
Dust when Mother is umbrageous
Spans us in our later ages
When the ways of right defying
We are brought to book, and crying
Like the children did before:
"I won't do it any more."

CHARACTER

Character in people is read through observation of appearance, voice, walk, actions and lines upon the face.

Some traits of personality are very easy to read at a first interview; others are very much harder to read, and are never fully understood by the casual observer. We must definitely formulate in our own minds just what trait we are looking for, and then take another, and so on, until we have a composite picture of the person as he appears to us—always mindful that we are human, too, and make mistakes.

CHARACTER IN A BUSINESS is always shown in the little ear marks that even the casual shopper decides are essential, perhaps at a first glance. But in order to rightly judge the spirit of an organization, we must study it for one "trait" at a time.

TAKE ONE TRAIT OF GLENDALE MERCHANTS:

DESIRE TO HOLD THE HOME PEOPLE AS STEADY CUSTOMERS!

That trait alone entitles them to your unmeasured confidence in the offerings of this page. Unfairness in dealings with you in Monday Shopping Bargains would be a boomerang, recoiling on their heads.

Other characteristics of home merchants will be shown in other articles. By your confidence in Glendale Merchants.

SPORTSMEN HEAD FOR MENDOCINO

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4.—(United Press.)—A large part of the sporting population of California took to the hills today, with the opening of the deer hunting season.

Mendocino, Lake and Monterey counties are expected to get the larger part of the hunters, as luck has usually been good in those regions.

The old warnings not to shoot friends instead of deer are being sounded, even the licenses taking a slam at the hunter who shoots first and looks afterwards.

KRESS STORE HAS AUSPICIOUS OPENING

That the people of Glendale are interested in and awaiting for just such a "handy" store as the Kress at 145 North Brand boulevard was evidenced by the unusually large crowd that thronged the sidewalk awaiting the opening of this new mercantile establishment at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, August 3, and continued to come and go on tours of inspection until the store closed at 9 p. m.

Huge baskets of flowers attractively displayed throughout the store expressed the best wishes of many of the friends of the Kress company for the success of this new addition to the long chain of stores that stretches from coast to coast.

The crowds of visitors at the store were entertained with music furnished by a six-piece orchestra both during the afternoon and evening. No goods were sold on the opening day. Special sales began this morning at 8:30 o'clock and will continue throughout the coming week.

F. J. O'Hara, manager of the Kress 5-10-25 and 25 cent store at San Diego came up to superintend the final arrangements at the Glendale establishment and will be in charge during the opening week. D. C. Carver, who was the assistant manager of the Los Angeles Kress store, will be the general manager and will have complete charge after the opening week.

An idea of the large size of the store may be conceived by the statement that in order to take care of the customers during the first week's business 108 salespeople have been engaged. The Glendale store will include seven departments, among them candy, ribbons, hosiery, toys, jewelry, toilet goods, lace, dress goods, hardware, tinware, crockery, notions, records, stationery, etc.

Special sales in aluminum ware, framed pictures, vacuum bottles and brooms were scheduled for this morning. For this afternoon and evening there will be offered special bargains in enamelware, fancy chinaware, orange lustre china, bath towels, hosiery, vases and lily bowls, framed pictures, men's hose, etc. Specials for each day of the opening week will be advertised.

KITCHEN'S HEART IS THE COOK STOVE

The heart of a kitchen is its cook stove. If that does not function as it should and properly provide the things that mean life and energy to the whole household, the efficiency of the entire establishment is impaired. A poor stove is expensive. It imposes a heavy tax upon the cook and sometimes upon the digestions of those who eat what the cook prepares. For that reason all Glendale housewives who want up-to-date gas stoves should take note of the special opportunities afforded by the carload of stock that has just come to the Good Housekeeping Shop at 140 South Brand boulevard. A special bargain that is being featured this week is a semi-porcelain A. B. gas range. Its oven lined with a guaranteed rust-proof A. B. aluminum alloy, the body of Armo rust-resisting iron heavily finished with hard fire-baked enamels. A payment of but $5 will bring this stove to any kitchen and it can be inspected at any time by calling at the Good Housekeeping Shop.

CHARMING FISH STORY

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 3 (United Press).—The most utterly charming fish story ever told, to which every other angler might as well bow his head and quit, is told by John S. Montgomery, former mayor of Lodi. The mayor says he was fishing on the Rogue river in Oregon, and had a number of flies hooked into his hat-like fishermen do. A branch of a tree knocked the sky-piece off and it galloped down the stream out of sight. It was found a week later by a San Francisco fisherman on a salmon's head. The salmon had snared in a long leader and born the millinery down the coast. The former Lodi mayor doesn't say when he's going fishing again. The line of applicants to join the party may form to the right.

Reformers Urged To Cease Labors

[By Associated Press]

LONDON, August 4.—Social reformers as a class do much more harm than good, according to Professor Leonard Darwin, and society would improve much faster if they ceased to worry about it and let it go its own way.

Professor Darwin is a son of the great Charles Darwin, and it is natural that he should hold strong views on the survival of the fittest and how this best can be accomplished. He says that the misguided efforts of many sincere and earnest social reformers really result in encouraging the continuance of race inferiority and deterioration, which is just the reverse of what they are trying to do.

In a recent speech before the Eugenics Education Society, of which he is president, he dwelt upon the harm he thought social reformers were doing.

"Mate Selection" was the title of Professor Darwin's address. He was not sure that mate selection, in the present state of society, was good for the future of the race, and argued that when the fit married the fit they tended to have smaller families, while the inferior people continued producing unfit types which became more marked.

"To secure human progress," he said, "the inferior types must be eliminated, and all that should be demanded is that this process be made as little painful as possible."

Pity for others and solicitude for their liberty the speaker regarded as among the things that constituted obstacles in the way of racial improvement.

The philanthropists of today, however, Professor Darwin said, "only look on one side of the question, and entirely ignore the racial effects of the reforms they are advocating."

Both out-of-work doles to those constitutionally incapable of work, and out-door relief generally, if given without regard to the probability of parenthood in the future, would directly tend to promote the inferiority of the race in the future.

Motherhood endowment to the naturally superior and unfit alike, these and other methods of relieving distress, would have the same result, he contended. Altogether, as viewed by Professor Darwin, there seemed to be a pretty blue outlook for the world generally, and even enlightened eugenists appeared to be able to find little comfort in his views. But Professor Darwin said his objection to mate selection would disappear if "by some method less cruel than that of natural selection the inferior stocks could be made to multiply less quickly than the superior."

A mother's idea of the only safe place for a boy to go swimming is in the bathtub.

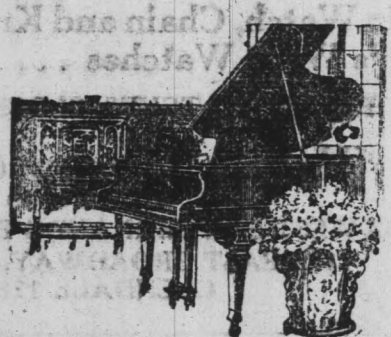

If you're looking for a reward it is better to be a peacemaker than a peacemaker.

Italian Fascisti, has been organized in Roumania. Its motto is "Justice

A QUESTION OF TASTE

The colossal impudence of politicians never was illustrated better than in the reception by some of them of the words of the President. It had been the design of President Harding to deliver an address at San Francisco touching the foreign policy of the administration. Owing to his illness this was released in the form of a statement. Friends of Hiram Johnson question the good taste of the utterance. What right had a President to say anything that lacked the approval of the senate? Right in the senator's home town, too!

Senator Johnson has fought the administration bitterly at every point bearing upon foreign relations. Frantic as futile was his roar of protest against the Four-Power treaty, a most benign compact that has done more to perpetuate peace on the Pacific than could have been accomplished in any other manner. He is fighting with equal bitterness, and probably with equal futility, the plan to establish a world court. He has not hesitated to let the world know that in these matters he is one with Hearst. From the floor of the senate, from the rostrum, and into the expansive reportorial ear he pours a flood of the Hearst convictions.

Perhaps the good taste manifest in this conduct has been in doubt at times. He had the privilege of abusing the administration at the seat of government, at home, abroad. Frantic would have been his rage had this privilege been curtailed. Yet the head of the administration, lampooned, misrepresented and abused by one to whose support he had been entitled by every rule of loyalty, for calmly telling the truth, is rebuked by the Hearstings. They overestimate their importance. Their feelings are entitled to no consideration. They attack fiercely enough, but expect their vicious assaults to be received without response.

The plain matter of fact is that the country does not care for the emotions excited in the mind of Johnson. He is welcome to ramp and storm, and if quietly called down through the presentation of the truth, the spectacle of his wrath is diverting rather than serious.

Once a frog endeavored to swell to the size of an ox, but the effort was not successful.

MILITARY TRAINING

The suggestion of General Pershing that military training would be an excellent experience for the reds, is interesting. It would teach them to respect authority. Their defiance of the law and of all wholesome restrictions is what makes them a dangerous, or at least, an annoying social element. "I firmly believe," said the general, "that a sane program of military training for every young man is a great immunity against the idle, insidious and foolish propaganda of the I. W. W., the parlor bolsheviks, and all other shades of reds of which there are too many right now."

The sole idea of military training is not that in an emergency the country might require an army mobilized with speed. The need of such training is in part for the benefit of the individual. It would give the young American the belief that he really was a part of the structure of the government. It would be fine discipline for the idler, whether rich or poor.

Opposition to military training is based on the theory that a country able to fight is certain to fight. This might be true in a country admittedly on a military basis, and with its activities inspired by the thought of conquest. It could not be true of a republic devoted to peace, and with its energies directed to attending to its own business.

THE TEMBLOR AN INCIDENT

A Denver paper, happily in the circumstances, impotent to give its statements the semblance of veracity, has been throwing fits over the awful earthquake that has stricken southern California. The reign of terror, the vast damage, the frantic escape from tottering buildings, all are portrayed in vivid terms.

The plain truth is that this region experienced a slight temblor. Some of the residents were aware of it at the time. Many more were not. A person on the streets could not feel it. Those in houses were conscious of a tremor that a large proportion ascribed to the passing of street car or truck. No buildings fell, nor was any damage done. The temblor lasted for a few seconds.

California does not deny being subject to these experiences. Far less injury results from them than is caused in other places by lightning. They are as innocuous as April showers. They do not work a tithe of the havoc done elsewhere to flood and high winds. They appear fearsome only because such papers as the one under consideration have acquired the habit of lying about them.

THE SINISTER SHADOW

A Los Angeles official, in resigning his position, mentions the "sinister shadow" of a certain lawyer, cast across municipal affairs. Thus under new title appears "the invisible government," a government invariably favoring an undeserving class, and from the very nature of things, vicious and untrustworthy. If the shadow in question rests upon Los Angeles, it seems likely to be dissipated by the light of publicity. Men elected or appointed to places of authority, with the set purpose of doing their full duty, find the task impossible. They have the backing of their superiors, the good will of the public, and yet they are helpless. Either they quit in disgust, or they give up the struggle, and drift along.

There are certain prescribed methods for filling offices. The man who accepts office is under obligations named in the oath he takes. It is singular that he sometimes finds himself dominated by a group or an individual totally without standing in law or in decency. The common welfare demands that this force, whatever it may be, be exposed and eliminated. The people of a city do not welcome the thought of a dictatorship. They elect men in whom they have confidence. When these men discover themselves handicapped and helpless, and appeal to the public, there should be no question of speedy and effective relief. Government by "sinister shadows" is too far from ideal to be tolerated.

A man who never made a fool of himself is unable to appreciate human sympathy.

It takes a clever man to pick up an umbrella and walk off with it just as if it belonged to him.

It may be better to be born lucky than rich, but the man who is born rich is lucky from the start.

When a widower marries a milliner or a dressmaker he is probably figuring on getting back part of what his first wife spent.

ALAS FOR "ROMANCE"

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

The 20th century is the open season for idols with clay feet, moth eaten traditions and lies that their makers never mistook for truth.

Make a distinction here between lies and lies; a lie that is knowingly used as a truth is one thing. A lie that is used mistakenly for the truth is quite another. The first is an effort to secure the profits that would accrue only through suppressing the truth; the second is the expression of a good intention that is not strong enough to bear up under inconvenience.

You may, for example, promise to give your wife $5 for a matinee party and mean to do it; but that evening you lose $25 in a poker game and your good intention suffers an eclipse through the impending shadow of a financial shortage. You lied to your wife; but you did it under a misapprehension as to probable facts.

The kind of lie that is here under indictment is another brand. It's the meanest kind of lie, so mean, in fact, that the National Woman's party is taking steps to make it impossible to tell it. You can tell it all right; but if you do it will have to function as truth, for the law will be invoked to compel this.

This specially vicious form of prevarication is the anti-nuptial lie, the meant-to-be-broken promise made to get a woman, and repudiated after it has served its purpose.

This detestable lie has been lightly regarded by many people who would look with horror on a falsehood told in a flat business transaction, because it has masqueraded as an adjunct of romance, romance being understood as the age-long and custom-hallowed habit of deception between people who want to get married and who feel that an honest declaration of their intentions toward each other would defeat their purpose.

Promises of insignificant reforms, such as giving up smoking and going to church every Sunday, staying in nights and never, never looking at a pretty woman other than one's wife are prenuptial promises in which the law will take no special interest; but when a man promises a woman before he marries her that he will give her an allowance, and after marriage jettisons his promise because "he does not believe in women having money," he is likely to find that his words bound him as if they had been given to a business man in a cold business proposition. If the law goes through, the gentlemen in such cases will have to pay.

In the same way, women who secure husbands by the promise of home making and child bearing will have to get up mornings and fry the cakes and they will have to produce a moderate number of babies or show cause for failing to do so.

And there goes another romantic habit knocked into fragments by the coldly calculating business angle that women have absorbed into their reasoning by contact with business men.

May all such "romantic" habits share its fate. If we can stop anti-nuptial lying we may do a good deal to stop divorce.

We lie to inferiors or those whom we consider too weak to enforce promises made to ensnare them. It's time that men ceased to look upon women whom they are seeking as wives in this degrading way.

Fair play may not be romantic but it produces a state of harmony in human relations that may profitably be bought with the pelt of romance. Hurrah for the death of anti-nuptial lying.

THE RIGHT WORD

By W. CURTIS NICHOLSON
THE ONLY WAY

There are many who are unwilling to sacrifice leisure and pleasures, in order to place themselves in the position to have these rewards later on in life. If you are willing to trudge along toward your goal daily, taking hours for recreation and pleasure, which every one needs and should enjoy in moderate instalments, but not giving your life to the mere performance of duties garnished by a round of pleasures; if you are willing to deny yourself to your friends and work when others are seemingly enjoying themselves, in summer as well as in winter; if you are able to convert willingness into action; if you have the staying qualities to fight against odds to reach your goal; then death alone can stand between you and achievement. Even in death you will triumph, for the better part of achievement is endeavor.

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

Somebody has said that a fellow feeling makes us wondrous kind.

We don't know who it was at this instant and it is too busy a time to go and look it up. Because it is not important.

The man who said it has gone where either praise or blame is of no consequence to him.

And to see his name in this column would give him no thrill.

We merely call attention to the words as embodying a great human truth.

And to put it in homelier terms, the fellow who has jammed his finger knows what a jammed finger is.

And has sympathy for every other fellow with a jammed finger.

The fellow who is hungry knows what hunger is.

And has sympathy with everybody else who is hungry.

If he had a crust he would share it perhaps quicker than if he had not been hungry one time.

And then somebody else has said that a touch of nature makes the whole world kin.

Meaning that there is the golden thread of humanity through all of us.

And that it is our common humanity that links us together.

So sympathy comes out of understanding.

And understanding comes out of experience. It gives us a sense of value.

And tells us what things are important and what things are only incidental.

Songs of the Poets

Romance—By Robert Louis Stevenson

I will make you brooches and toys for your delight
Of bird-song at morning and star-shine at night.
I will make a palace fit for you and me,
Of green days in forests and blue days at sea.
Where white flows the river and bright blows the broom,
And you shall wash your linen and keep your body white
In rainfall at morning and dewfall at night.

And this shall be for music when no one else is near
The fine song for singing, the rare song to hear!
That only I remember, that only you admire,
Of the broad road that stretches, and the roadside fire.

SUCCESS IS TOO EASY

By DR. FRANK CRANE

GLANCING through one of the popular magazines I am impressed by the fact, as apparent in the advertising columns, that about the easiest thing in the world to do is to succeed.

One full page advertisement is headed "From $25 a week to $10,000 a year." A young gentleman whose photograph is displayed tells us how he became a high salaried business man and did this entirely in his spare time and without capital or experience. If you will sign on the dotted line the little coupon down at the corner of the page and send it to Whooferiff and Co., Inc., Dept. 936, somewhere on Broadway, New York, you will become wealthy by return mail, just as easy as turning over your hand. Remember that you send no money. You take no risk whatever. So make the coupon at once—now—TODAY! Step out of the time clock line! Climb on and up to bigger and better things! Mr. George W. Raspberry, who smiles out at you from the page, did it, why not you?

Turning over the leaf I discover abundant other opportunities, most of them described in very fine print headed with enormous capital letters. I see that I can become a Bookkeeper or a certified Public Accountant, that some of the Peckinpaw Institute's business graduates earn over $5000 a year and that auto top for myself and save $35, become a good penman by sitting at the feet of the world's master inklinger in Kansas City, cure myself of stammering and the tobacco habit, learn to be an electrician in three months, make a $100 a week and more as Floor Surfacing Contractor, remove my own bunions instantly and without pain, learn how to concentrate for $1.15 so that I can keep my mind on one subject despite interruptions, master the degree of Law and receive the degree of LL.B. and money back if I don't pass, find out how to unfold all my psychic power by dropping a line to Prof. Specknoodle, of Rochester, N. Y., prepare in a few weeks' time to become a prominent journalist on one by just sending my name and address to Dept. 5-J of the great School of Journalism of Louisville, Kentucky, get a $12.95 genuine German Mauser revolver for $6.95, become a short story writer in a couple of days, learn French at home, and finally for just 10 cents, or one dime, receive from some lady in Connecticut a little book that will enable me to "become self-directing, to control conditions and get what we want from life." And what could be fairer than that?

OBSERVED AT A GLANCE

When a man disguised as a woman is arrested, his guilt of whatever the charge is, ought to be taken for granted.

When Diaz ran Mexico he used to give an area equal to a county to anybody who flattered him, which accounts for many large holdings.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

A boy of 14 years has just been sent to a reform school to remain until twenty-one. The chances are that at the end of this period he will be turned loose to prey on society. Perhaps the psychologist could find some element of good in the lad, some quality upon which to hang the hope of ultimate reform, but it is doubtful. Maybe there is no criminal class, made up of mortals so endowed that they must tread the paths of evil, but there are such individuals.

Think of a boy of fourteen who had committed more burglaries than he had lived years. Think of him having set fire to the last place robbed for the reason that he thought it would be exciting to see it burn. Think of him swaggering along with two pistols at the time of arrest, and in jail boasting of his misdeeds. He seems to lack even a rudimentary conscience.

There are abnormal intelligences that go undetected for a long time, to be revealed at last by some overt act of violence or depravity. What to do with them is a question that has not yet been answered.

"Because we did not take our seat at the head of the international table in Europe in 1919," said Senator Underwood, "a great part of that continent has been torn by strife."

Anybody who thinks that the gentleman is alone in this opinion better think it over.

What seems to be an actual case of white slavery has been revealed through a series of arrests at the harbor. There is considerable loose talk about this traffic. If an instance of it really has been brought to light, it is to be hoped that the law will be applied without delay and without leniency.

One hundred persons are said to have been killed by a train dashing at full speed into a German railway station. The explanation is that the engineer failed to see the signal. It is singular that he should have failed even to see the station.

A bus overturned in the suburbs of Los Angeles, injuring fourteen passengers. Previously the same bus has performed similarly at the same spot, to the hurt of seventeen passengers.

The conclusion is natural that something is the matter either with the bus or the spot.

When Ida M. Tarbell says a thing is so, it is accepted on such basis. She has been interviewing various large employers of labor. They tell her that since prohibition the men are working more regularly, saving more money, and living in more comfortable homes.

The fact that moonshine whisky is still current is admitted, but it fails to discredit prohibition in the face of these statistics.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI
FIGHT IT OUT

Loud voices, thumps, slams floated down the stairway from the children's room!

"Thank goodness there's nobody here tonight," said mother. "That's Tom and Dorothy again. They began quarreling last week and they've broken out three or four times since because I had to go and quiet them because I had visitors. This time they can fight it out and get done with it."

"Aren't you afraid they will hurt one another?" asked father doubtfully.

"Not morally," said mother cheerfully. "And they simply have to settle which of them is to sit in the green chair and which in the yellow one."

"Why didn't you get them both alike and then they wouldn't have had the trouble?"

"Why should I? They've got to learn to get along together. I don't see why everything should be adjusted for them so they will never have to adjust themselves. No! Let them settle it themselves. They will, if they get a chance."

And they did. It is not possible to prevent children from quarreling but it is possible to train them as to what things ought to be fought over and what not. If one child wants to hold on to everything he sees and force to the others to do without or accept what he chooses to give them there is bound to be a quarrel and there ought to be. It is too bad of course, but children are like that.

If a grown person interferes and forces a settlement the one that was imposing generally gets more than he ought to have, as the parent strives to be just and give share and share alike. The grasping one, in all likelihood, has had more than his share of privilege before the adjuster arrived and suffered no loss at his hands. There is a grievance then in the minds of the others and as nothing is settled until it is settled right, the quarrel will slumber until it breaks out at a new place. Better let them fight it out themselves if possible. Interfere only if there is danger of bodily harm. Settle that point, but leave the rest open.

Sometimes the belligerents will invite you to arbitrate when of course you will do your best and lend your deepest wisdom and discover in the end that what you said was not exactly what either side hoped you were going to say. Arbitration is a doubtful recourse at best. Try to be the calm watcher of events and let the responsibility for complete settlement rest with the contestants.

"It's always been to let John Henry fight his own battles," said a wisest mother. "Now when he gets the worst of it, which teaches him his place, and now and then he wins out which gives him proper encouragement. I never interfere with him unless I see he is likely to be really hurt. That's not often."

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

There's a fine old lady visiting next door. I know she's a fine old lady by just looking at her. Character in every line of her beautifully wrinkled face. And temper. I've always held that a woman without temper is like meat without salt. Healthy, perhaps, but not tasty. This morning the old lady on the neighbor's porch put down her knitting and glared at her daughter.

"For mercy's sake, May," said she, "don't flutter—You flop around here like a bird with a broken wing—and without getting anywhere. Light. Light and calm yourself."

May, too, is one of the best of women. I could give a list of her good qualities as long as the moral law. I know 'em by heart, because I hear from Mrs. Pilgrim every time I asseverate that May gives me the sensation of reeling combined with a shooting pain. Mrs. Pilgrim thinks one should like a good woman merely because she is good.

But she flutters! My holy aunt, how she flutters. She is continually dashing into a room, wearing a worried look, and panting out again with her brow mounting a signal of distress, and without having done anything. Or, if she has, she has only half done it. She may move a few things, but she will never complete the moving. It takes her meaning married man can—because when she gets her hat on she finds that she must take it off in order to put on her shoes.

Grandma will cure her if she stays. I've seen Grandma in action before. She will compel that nerve-harried housewife to moderate her pace. She may even go so far as to compel May to finish one thing before she takes up another task. Last year she visited next door, and May looked almost young—just from not fluttering—before the old lady went home.

Trouble with May is that she is not only nervous but she has weevils in the bean. Otherwise she would see that fluttering can be subdued.

Also that flutterers merely go around and around and around.

WILLYS-KNIGHT COUNTRY CLUB SPORT MAKES HIT

LATEST OFFERING OF WILLYS-OVERLAND CO. PROVES BIG WINNER

Glendale Motorists, Admirers of a Real Car, Declare
This Most Recent Output Is the Biggest Thing
Thus Far Done By This Popular Concern

INITIAL DELIVERY IS MADE THIS WEEK

Electric Gas Gauge, Automatic Windshield Wiper
And Waltham Clock Included in List of Accessories—Leather is Spanish Grained

With the advent of the Willys-Knight sport model named the Country Club, another milestone has been passed and the most beautiful model of the Willys-Overland company has been placed before the public. The popularity of this particular model is assured by the approval of the public who have viewed it and the orders and deliveries which are being made. Every essential necessary for the comfort of the open car driver has been provided for in this car. All items which are ordinarily called accessories have been provided upon the car, even to the detail of an electric gasoline gauge, automatic windshield wiper and Waltham clock. The upholstery matches in color the finish of the automobile proper which is done in red. The leather is Spanish grained and wonderfully enhances the beautiful appearance of the car. A very commodious trunk sits off the rear of the machine and the top in khaki lends the finishing touch.

With the addition of this sport car to the Willys-Knight open models, the purchaser today has many types to choose from in the moderate priced class. The popularity of the Willys-Knight has grown by such leaps and bounds that it is hard to realize that two years ago there were practically none of these automobiles in this vicinity.

This calls to mind that the second anniversary of the firm of Smith-Sloan, Inc., is nearing. At the time of the inception of this business less than two years ago by George T. Smith a territory new to this line was being opened up. Through the wonderful reception accorded the Willys-Knight by the buying public, as well as the reputation attained by George T. Smith for fairness the business has grown by such leaps and bounds that it was impossible for one man to handle it. The association of B. W. Sloan with Mr. Smith has encompassed this phase of handling the business upon a still larger scale. Mr. Sloan is very familiar with the automobile business, having had the Willys-Overland franchise in Brooklyn, Iowa, for many years.

The conservative policy of the Willys-Overland company in obtaining simplicity in both the Willys-Knight and the Country Club lines affects the purchaser of this automobile materially in the wise that it enhances the resale value of the car after use. After intensive research during the year 1919 a model was decided upon which met with instant approval with the public and which body design has had a great effect upon the lines of all cars for the new year. It is with pride that a driver of one of the earlier models of the Willys-Knight can feel that his car is of same lines as the latest creations on the market. Further, the safe feeling that in one year his car will not be antiquated in design is a great factor in the purchase.

Among the purchasers of the very newest Willys-Knight, the Country Club, is Harvey Van Henklyn who has had a California top finished in red Morocco leather built upon the car. This automobile upon the streets of Glendale has caused pronounced comment, as well as admiration for its beautiful lines. The design of the automobile makes a California top a part of the car, lending a decided touch in the factor of stream line. A similar model will be on display in the salesrooms at 228 South Brand boulevard for public inspection.

The come-back of the Willys-Overland during the past few months is the talk of the entire industry. Willys-Overland production has climbed back to second place among all the automobile members of the Chamber of Commerce from fourteenth place—last highest point in the history of the company. Production and earnings for the six months of 1923 are in excess of any previous six months' period. Overhead cost has been cut to a lower figure than ever before in the history of the company.

Permanent control of the Willys-Overland company, as represented by the block of 739,000 shares of common stock held by the Willys corporation, definitely passed into the hands of John N. Willys and his friends this week through the decision of Judge Knox in the federal district court at Buffalo.

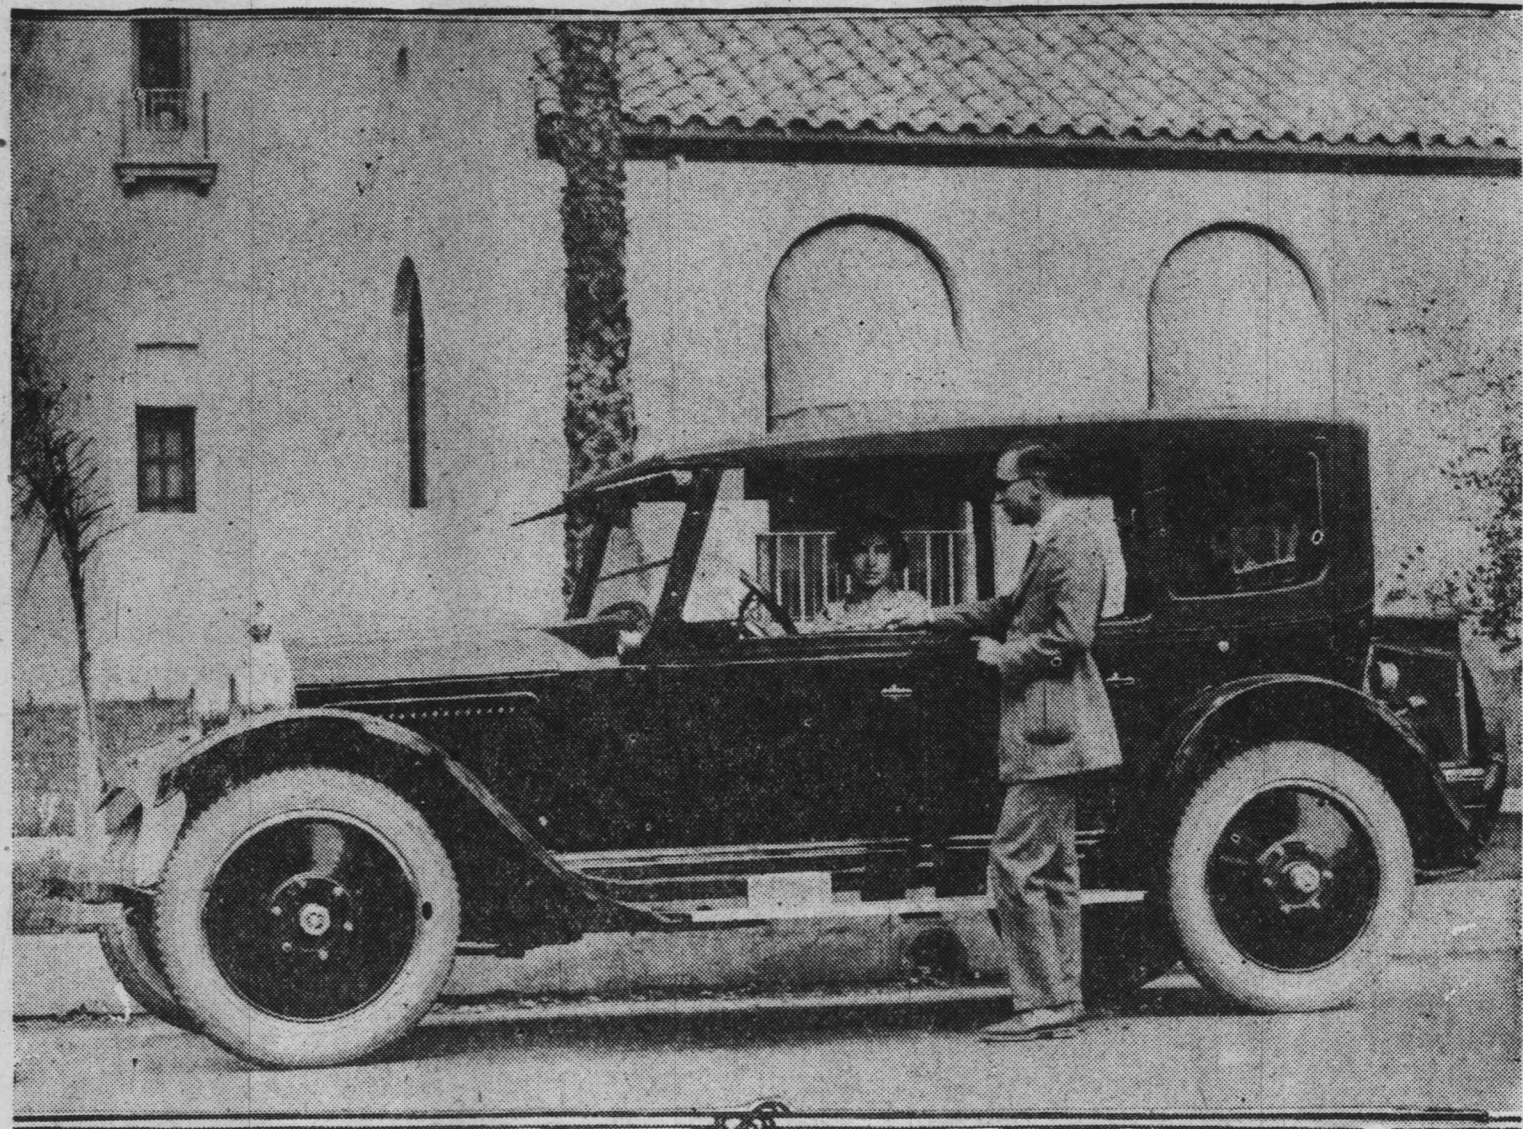

This large block of common stock, for which several bids were entertained by the court, originally belonged to John N. Willys who built up the Willys-Overland company. It was turned over to the Willys corporation, organized by him in 1918 as one of the assets of that corporation.

When the affairs of the Willys corporation, after the result of the depression following the war, became such that a receivership was made necessary in order to liquidate the assets of the corporation and satisfy the creditors. Mr. Willys took the firm stand that the first preferred stockholders of the Willys corporation should, in so far as possible, be saved from loss of their investment. Those stockholders, numbering about 6,000, held $15,000,000 par value first preferred Willys corporation stock. The majority of the second preferred stock was of the common stock was held by Mr. Willys.

TO PROLONG LIFE OF TIRES

At the end of every 2500 miles of service, a tire should be removed from the rim, deflated and all soapstone and grit removed. The inside of the casing should be washed with clean gasoline and, after drying, should be dusted with talc. During this operation a close inspection should be made of the tread and the inside of the casing for any cuts or fragments of glass, or other foreign materials. The rim should be cleaned of all rust and paint. Rust on the rims leads to quick deterioration if it works its way around or through the flap.

AUTO CLUB TELLS LIGHT LAW POINTS

Thousands of motorists are concerned over the changes in the headlight law which go into effect on September 1.

Just what these changes are and how they will affect the terrible glare of automobile headlights on the highways of this part of the state, has been outlined by officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

In the first place, all headlights on motor vehicles sold after the last of this month must conform to the standard as outlined in the new motor vehicle act, which goes into effect at midnight, August 31.

But it is important, points out the Auto club, that motorists note the fact that this will not mean a change in the regulation regarding headlights and reflectors already installed on cars at that time. Motorists will have until December 31, 1924, to change these headlights that are already in use and to install new equipment.

However, it has been reported that a number of "drives" on motorists using glaring headlights which do not comply with the present law will be instituted throughout Southern California so as to make night driving safe for humanity.

Many questions have been asked about the "eight point test" which is required for headlights under the new motor vehicle act. It is simply a very wise test so devised that it compels the reduction of the glare cast into the eyes of approaching drivers, but at the same time increase the illumination on the highway, point out club officials.

Under the new law, headlights must not be located higher than 50 inches above the level surface of the highway. Any lights located above this height are classified as spotlights, and must conform to the regulations governing spotlights. Acetylene headlights are not subject to the same requirements as electric lights, but must conform to special standards for such lights as set forth in the new vehicle act.

Headlights must be lighted on all California highways, according to the law, during the period from half an hour after sunset to half an hour before sunrise, and also at any other time when there is not sufficient light to render clearly discernible a person, vehicle or other substantial object on the highway at a distance of 200 feet. This applies to driving through a tunnel where the lighting is bad or through a fog where motorists cannot see clearly 200 feet ahead of them.

TRY THIS SOMETIME

Your difficulty in avoiding holes in the road may be due to the fact that you don't actually know just how accurate you are with your steering. To check up on this drop a cigarette box on the road and try to crush it squarely with either one of the front wheels. You'll be surprised to find that you usually miss it by several inches.

George T. Smith, of the firm of Smith & Sloan, 228 South Brand boulevard, local agents for the Willys-Knight and Overland automobiles.

TAKE CARE WHEN COMING OUT FROM PARKING AT CURB

First steps toward eliminating a "free for all" spirit threatening to develop in the west are taken by the Auto Club of Southern California in issuing a warning today to motorists in regard to pulling out from the side of the road or the curb.

Don't shoot out from the parking place at the curb or at the side of the highway into the stream of travel without looking behind to see if there is a machine coming, and without giving the proper hand signal, states the club.

Hundreds of letters have been received by the organization, according to local officials, asking that some attention be paid to this rule in order to cut down the number of accidents and near-accidents occurring throughout Southern California at this time. It is stated that if every motorist would take care of the little things, such as this, the bigger things would take care of themselves.

All drivers are asked to avoid making traffic congestion points scenes of "catch-as-catch-can" operation of motor vehicles.

An Automobile Fact Worth Remembering

The idea that a motorist is justified in neglecting the appearance of the car, provided he spends his spare moments keeping it in good mechanical condition, is exploded by the fact that keeping the car internally right is always a result of keeping it externally fit. Any driver who polishes a hood is bound to see more mechanical things to be done than the man who thinks he can work without first removing the dirt. The best cared for cars, mechanically, are still those that look it externally.

TEN WAYS TO KEEP OUT OF JAIL

Here are a few hints that tend for safe driving:

1. Almost every state and community has its own traffic laws, and drivers should be thoroughly familiar with all laws that apply in the locations where they have occasion to drive. A copy of this state laws can usually be secured by addressing the secretary of the state at the state capitol; local ordinances from the local police department.

2. There are, however, many laws that are universal enough to be called common "courtesies" or rules of the road.

3. Every driver should extend the same courtesies to "the other fellow" that he expects the other fellow to extend to him.

4. Every driver, of course, knows that he should pass to the right when meeting other vehicles going in the opposite direction. Slow moving vehicles should keep to the extreme right.

5. Always sound the horn and pass on the left when passing other vehicles going in the same direction. This applies when passing all vehicles except street cars and vehicles traveling the street car tracks. When at street intersections, on curves, or when going up or down hill, never pass another vehicle going in the same direction.

6. At street intersections give the right of way to the car at your right. Do not presume too much when you have the right of way, perhaps the other fellow doesn't know it.

7. When stopping or parking a car, see that the right side (not the left side) is toward the curb. The wheels should be cramped to the right so the car cannot move far accidentally. Make sure that the emergency brake is on and that the gears are in neutral before leaving the car. Do not stop car within 15 feet of a fire hydrant.

8. Always signal when you expect to stop, start or turn. If possible, signal by extending the arm. If the car body or load prevents person ahead and behind from seeing arm signals, a good type of mechanical signaling device should be installed on the car.

9. It is a gentlemanly act as well as a safety precaution to dim your lights when approaching another car in the dark.

10. See that your license tags are installed in the position specified by law and that they are clearly visible under all conditions.

FIGHT INTRUDERS

Wild creatures often have well-defined ideas as to where they belong, and as if certain places belonged to them, will fight off rivals. A male humming bird will take possession of a California garden and be ready all day to cross swords with any other of his kind that comes his way. "Cross swords" is a good expression, for one can hear the clashing of the long bills as the birds soar high into the air. In the end the intruder is driven off. The male ostrich on a South African farm draws imaginary boundaries to its "land," and will attack even a human being who crosses them during the breeding season. These birds are dangerous customers, but the farmer, in making his rounds, is never attacked by more than one at a time. (Sportsman's Digest)

BOOKLET TO TEACH PREVENTION OF FIRES

To aid in the teaching of forest fire prevention, a manual on the subject for use in the schools of California has been prepared by the California state forester and the superintendent of public instruction in cooperation with the forest service of the United States department of agriculture. This booklet, which also is of value from a forestry standpoint, has been published by the United States department of agriculture as Miscellaneous Circular No. 7.

The circular is profusely illustrated with pictures designed to illustrate the text for young readers. Moreover, it is written in a style which school children can easily read, and helpful quotations follow each chapter.

The location and area of the California forests are covered, together with a description of the various species of trees native to the state. The effect of forests on water supply and the marvelous recreational facilities made possible by the forests are among the other features of the opening chapters. The effect of fires, causes, detection, fighting and prevention, are among the other subjects touched upon. The booklet should prove of great value in inculcating the rudiments of good forestry practices into California's youngsters.

A copy of the booklet may be secured from the United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., as long as the supply lasts.

WHY CASINGS ON REAR WHEELS WEAR

That the higher rate of wear on your rear tires is not due to any extra weight at the rear, but to the strain on the treads in stopping and starting? And that the wear is greater due to acceleration than deceleration? The brakes of most cars are not sufficiently well adjusted to permit the wheels to be locked, while almost all cars are capable of sliding the wheels a bit in starting. Here is where the wear is excessive because the spinning of the wheels is repeated so frequently. A good way to get into the habit of starting and stopping less abruptly is to compare the rear with the front tires at regular intervals. If the rear tires are wearing more the chances are that your driving is still erratic.

That it is occasionally permissible to oil the valve stems by squirting engine oil through the pet cocks—for an L-head motor? If the engine is cranked over a few times with the starter (ignition off) the oil will have an opportunity to drip down past the valve heads and on to their stems where it will lubricate sections of the stems not reached by oiling the valves from below. The best plan is to do the job just prior to spring the car; as the pressure of the burning gases when the engine fires will force some of the oil farther down the exhaust valve stems where oil is most needed.

The Mountain Lover Desires—Dancing, Hiking,
Swimming, Music—and the Big Outdoors

By ALBERT MARPLE

This is the time of year when Southern California tries hard to get on speaking terms with nature—when the motorists of this section point the noses of their faithful family cars toward the hills, knowing full well that in the sighing of the pines and the music of the rippling streams there is the rest that one must secure if effects of the noise and hurry of the modern business life are to be overcome.

There really are people who do not hear the call of the mountains—that voice that comes at the busiest moments in the office, when the work is coming thick and fast and when there are big questions to be decided. It is between these items of business that the lover of the hills gets just a glimpse of the babbling brook, or a stream away up in the pines. These little, fleeting glimpses come unheralded.

Possibly it is a word or an expression of a business associate that brings the "little dream," or it may be a sentence in a business letter; or, possibly, the vision may come as the tired business man backs up for another start at some gigantic transaction. It matter not how or when this call comes, the mountain lover recognizes in it an appeal of the wild, a call to get away from the grind of the modern business life.

There is a place up in the mountains, not so very far from Glendale, where the birds sing and where the squirrels bark—where the big outdoors may be found in all its glory. It is at this particular spot where one of the finest streams in Southern California is to be found. Through its years and years of ceaseless tumbling over the most wonderful boulders imaginable, this stream has worn away its rugged, uneven path from which it never strays, all of which makes it more beautiful, more wonderful and more appealing.

From this description the reader naturally thinks of Camp Baldy, one of the most beautiful resting places in Southern California, and just a step, as it were, from Glendale. Camp Baldy is one of those places where the motorist may go and where the cares and worries of this life are forgotten. If you go there with a grouchy you are bound to return with a smile. If you go with a feeling that the world is not playing square with you, you come away with a song ringing in your heart—that this old world is not such a bad place in which to live after all.

Camp Baldy is a sure enough glad-hand resort. When your stage or automobile pushes its nose under the "welcome" entrance arch of the camp there is a bright-faced manager there to meet you. His hand is out in welcome and from the moment you land in camp until your stay is ended you are cared for in the very best possible manner. The request of the tourist is a command so far as the management is concerned. When you leave the camp the "farewell" that you receive makes you look forward to your next jaunt to the charming retreat that lies just north of the beautiful thriving city of Uplands.

One of the pleasing features about Camp Baldy is its accessibility to many wonderful points of interest. It seems as though fate had so placed this camp as to make it the hiker's retreat of the entire San Bernardino range. On every side, in every direction, to the mountains above and toward the foothills below the hiker may ply his favorite pastime, feeling assured that whatever jaunt is selected it will more than repay for the effort expended and for the time given to the trip.

The proximity of Camp Baldy to Los Angeles is another of that resort's appealing features. It takes less than three hours for the motorist to run from his home in Glendale to the office of this camp. Every second of these three hours is filled with pleasure, if the motorist is a lover of scenery. The trip is over almost before the autoist

TURN NOSE OF THE "CUTTER" EASTWARD--TO CAMP BALDY

MUSIC OF THE SAN ANTONIO IS CALLING

is aware of the fact. On this trip is a touch of beautiful mountain driving—just enough to let the motorist see what the "old bus" will do. No trouble of any kind will be experienced by the driver who knows how to handle his car.

The trip suggestion for this week is up Camp Baldy way. Throughout the summer quite a few motorists of Glendale have been following the trip suggestions of the Glendale Press automobile section. They have been taking advantage of the trips that have been carefully prepared for their guidance, and which are varied from time to time so as to give the local motorists the very best there is in the way of trip suggestions.

To reach Camp Baldy leave Glendale via East Colorado street and follow that thoroughfare through Eagle Rock, and on across the Colorado street bridge in Pasadena. Drive straight through Pasadena and Lamanda Park to Santa Ana avenue, where turn north (left) and proceed two blocks, then turn east (right). The motorist will then be on the celebrated Foothills boulevard, one of the most beautiful drives of Southern California. This road runs through a number of little foothill cities located at the base of the San Bernardino mountains, more beautiful hills than which cannot be found anywhere.

Drive straight out on the Foothill boulevard to Monrovia, where a jog of several blocks to the right is made. Road signs will indicate the route and if the motorist follows these markers he cannot lose his way. After leaving Monrovia continue straight ahead to Duarte, where another right jog is made, after which the road continues eastward to Azusa. Drive right through this town and a mile or so out of which a left jog will be encountered. Drive past the town of Glendora, and out this boulevard past San Dimas canyon, and past the road leading to Claremont, a short distance beyond which will be encountered a paved road turning to the left, marked "Camp Baldy" or "San Antonio canyon." Follow this road up the hill. From this point it will be impossible to lose the way. The road is marked throughout.

The camp is located 13 miles north of Uplands. The smooth canyon auto road of decomposed granite is of easy grade, and over the streams are substantial bridges. The roadway is safe all the way, every precaution being taken to protect the owner of the automobile.

At this camp there are amusements of all kinds, such as dancing, there being good music six nights a week, swimming in the 40x90 pool, horseback riding, fishing, etc. There is a pavilion with soda fountain, candy shop, bowling alleys, pool tables, and the like, while in the lobby annex there is a big stone fireplace, writing desks, piano and easy chairs.

The accommodations consist of tent houses, furnished complete for light housekeeping, and hotel cottages and tents, where no cooking is allowed. In connection with the latter is a complete cafeteria, equal to the best in the large cities of this section. There is a grocery store and meat market for those occupying the housekeeping tents-cottages. Everything is neat, clean and extremely appealing.

If you are overworked, through months of plodding at the office, or if you feel "like you would drop" through toiling day in and day out in the kitchen, over the hot stove, Camp Baldy will prove a God-send to you. It's just the place you've been looking for. It is a place where you can "come back," where you can gather up a great big man-sized supply of pep for the trying months that are before you.

View of main buildings at Camp Baldy, with lofty mountains in the distance.

Just a glimpse of the tumbling San Antonio, with tent-cottages of Camp Baldy in background.

There is more than one way of keeping from under the care of the family doctor—one is Camp Baldy.

DRILLING HOLES IN SHEET METAL

When drilling large holes in sheet metal, the common practice is to scribe a circle of the required diameter, and then, after drilling a series of holes in the circumference, the metal between is broken away. This not only consumes a lot of time, but frequently gives unsatisfactory results. A much better method is to use a reamer. This reamer can easily be made by the average car owner. A piece of round steel is filed to a taper and is then cut away on one side to slightly past the center. In use, a small hole is first drilled and then enlarged with the reamer.

CHEV. MAKES GREAT RECORD

A fine record for the Chevrolet 1923 Coupe was made by Mr. and Mrs. H. A. La Grosse of 1005 Virginia Place, who recently made a trip which carried them to Sacramento, San Francisco, Monterey, the Big Basin, Pacific Grove, or 1065 miles, traveling 24½ miles to the gallon of gas, 2 pints of oil and no water. There was no change from high gear on the trip. It took them but two days to run from Sacramento to Glendale.

B. G. Householder of Grand Island, Nebraska, arrived in his Chevrolet July 31 at the end of a 4,600 mile run. He averaged 20 miles per gallon of gasoline. The trip included the negotiation of Big

Towing Car After Bearing Adjustment

Towing a car in order to limber up a motor after new bearings have been installed may or may not indicate poor workmanship. When bearings are not made to fit just right one way to wear them in is to tighten them up and low the car around. If the bearings are properly scraped to fit, the towing should not be necessary. On the other hand, the repairer may want to tow the car to prevent burning out the bearing through accidental racing of the engine when first turning it over. Make sure just why the repairer is towing the car.

The real price of any car is the list price minus the trade in allowance plus the actual value of the old car. New cars are too often used cars. It only requires a careless moment to ruin a new engine by scoring its cylinders and straining its rods and shaft. A large buyer of motor cars has an understanding with a distributor that he will not take any cars driven in over the road. (Copyright, 1923, by The Ullman Feature Service)

PERFORMANCE IS IMPORTANT FEATURE

"Never in my experience as an automobile dealer have I found performance so large a factor in the merchandising of automobiles as it is today," says Mr. Jellison of the Jellison Motor company, 1004-South Brand, distributor for the Gardner Four. "People are becoming motor wise—they want to see what is under the hood."

"Not long ago an attractive paint job and nickled trimmings meant a good deal more to the average prospective buyer than performance. Happily, this condition has been changed. Appearance counts but not as it did at one time. Women as well as men are showing distinctly more preference for sturdy construction and fine motor performance than they do for flashy appearance. Nor are empty claims concerning remarkable performance accepted at face value. The prospective buyer today wants to be shown."

"The Gardner Motor company of St. Louis has always encouraged the intending buyer in this attitude. Actual demonstration has always been the key note of Gardner sales policy. The entire sales organization has been imbued with this spirit. We insist, whenever possible, on putting the Gardner through some severe performance tests before a sale is closed."

All Gardner models, and there are six of them, the Standard Phaeton and Roadster, the Sport model Phaeton and Roadster, Coupe and Sedan, are powered by the five-bearing crankshaft motor which has demonstrated its flexibility and power on some of the most famous hills in the country. Furthermore, this engine is noted for its economy of operation. In the recent Los Angeles-Yosemite Valley Economy Run, an annual classic, the Gardner took first place in class 2E, averaging 28.8 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

GLENDALE HAS A REAL BRAKE SERVICE

Here's something new—an up-to-the-minute brake service.

The Glendale Brake service is located at 333-B South Central avenue, Colorado and Central. It was opened a few days ago and already the boys have secured a very encouraging amount of patronage. The proprietors of this establishment are L. M. Millers and R. C. Phillips, both of whom are experts along the brake care and repair line.

For a year and a half prior to assisting in opening this establishment, Mr. Phillips held an important position with the C. L. Smith company, agents for the Chevrolet in Glendale. The motto of this firm is satisfaction. If they can't produce they will refund your money.

CHIMNEYS NEEDED FOR THE AUTO

Many years ago someone saw the advantage of piping smoke through chimneys to the top of houses as a matter of commonsense, and from that day to this the idea of building a house without a chimney, or a factory without a smoke stack, has never exactly been popular. But in so modern a thing as motoring we are still choking on each other's exhaust fumes simply because the chimney idea hasn't been applied to motor cars. A few merchants who discovered that the smell of gasoline, or exhaust gas, contaminated or "perfumed" the merchandise or food products being delivered have taken measures to divert the base as much as possible, but this has hardly solved the nuisance of endangering the health of the drivers who follow in close traffic, except in the unique case of the New Haven bakers whose trucks are equipped with chimney exhausts. But even in this instance the idea of the chimney was to eliminate possibility of contaminating the food products, not to safeguard the folks who are depended upon to consume them. Some day motorists will awaken to the fact that the location of the exhaust is somewhat more important than the nickel on the radiator.

CHEV. IS REAL ECONOMY CAR

An unusual amount of economy, endurance and reliability came to light recently in the report of the trip across country made recently by C. E. Gable and family, the trip being a Chevrolet touring of 1923 vintage. The start from Lansing, Michigan, was made on June 25, 1923, and Glendale was reached on July 23, a stop of two weeks having been made at Spirit Lake, Iowa.

Mr. Gable reports a wonderful score for his car, having spent only 67 cents for repairs and having made 27 miles to the gallon gasoline and 300 miles to the quart of oil. According to Mr. Gable his car performed in a wonderful manner and he passed up many tourists with various makes of cars who were in doubt as to their ability to continue the journey.

He states that he drove from Flagstaff, Arizona, to Victorville, California, without a stop, that he did not add a drop of water to his supply the entire trip across the desert and needed but one quart on the entire journey on account of evaporation.

This is Mr. Gable's second Chevrolet and he swears by that car. He intends to stay in Glendale and sell Chevrolets with D. Haskins, branch dealer of the C. L. Smith company, 1321 South San Fernando road.

CONVENTION PLANS MADE

Plans for the fall convention of the Motor and Accessory Manufacturers' Association, to be held this year at the Copley-Plaza hotel, Boston, September 19-22, are making good headway under the direction of two important committees which have just been organized.

'CADS' ARE NOW KNOWN BY INSIGNIA

Will motor car owners develop a heraldry of their own?

May the time come soon when the inquisitive observer, instead of trying to peer past the windshield as a stately car rolls by, will look for the insignia to identify the rider?

A start has already been made. It may develop rapidly. Soon we may have a system of automobile heraldry as complete as in the days when the crest of the armored knight betokened his rank, when kings bore sceptres and every family of nobility displayed its coat of arms.

In Holland, the carriage of Queen Wilhelmina is a Cadillac touring car and its royal ownership is signified by crowns mounted on the headlamps. In Japan, the limousine belonging to Prince Kwachō is identified by the royal emblem placed on the radiator front directly beneath the Cadillac coat of arms, by a sunflower design on an ornamental radiator cap, and by a special light mounted above the driver's compartment and identifying the car's rank at night.

The Cadillac is handled in Glendale by the Court Motor company, 235 South Brand.

BUICK PROVES TO BE DRAWING CARD

The new 1924 model of the Buick is here.

As the 1923 models of this machine took the motorists and others of the city by storm, so is the 1924 model proving to be one of the leading subjects of discussion in the world of motor cars.

The first of the 1924 Buicks to reach Glendale is now in the showrooms of the Tanner & Hall, L.L., 231 South Brand boulevard. Since the arrivals of this car, 3,000 lovers of good automobiles have called at the Tanner & Hall establishment to get a glimpse of the "young one." Not one has thus far gone away disappointed.

4-BRAKE CAR MAKES A HIT

One of those new arrivals, the four-wheel brake Rickenbacher car, is creating a whole lot of attention in the showroom of A. M. Schaffner, 107 East Colorado street, agent for the "Rich" in Glendale.

When this four-wheel brake was announced the motorists throughout the country stated, "I'm from that little middle-west city." To these and all others Schaffner is saying, "Come in and see for yourself."

TIRE PRICES CUT BY WESTERN AUTO

In the face of a probable rise in tire prices, the Western Auto Supply company has again announced a decrease in the price of all tires sold through their stores.

Tires are now lower in price than ever before and many of the leading authorities on rubber conditions have predicted an advance in tire prices. "Another 60 days and tire prices will boom," they say, but nevertheless the Western Auto Supply company has announced a reduction in their prices.

In making the announcement regarding the new price schedule, George Pepperdine, president of the Western Auto Supply company said, "The prophets may be right, tire prices may advance, but due to the foresight of our purchasing department, we can assure the motorist that we intend to carry out our policy of giving him more for his money—by keeping the cost of tires at a reasonable price. We are more than pleased with the results obtained from these tires by our many motoring friends, letters pour into our office every day lauding the quality of this tire. Barring the fact that it is a comparatively new tire, the Western Giant cord is becoming well known to the Pacific motorists."

When preparations were made by the company to market tires under their own brand they took into consideration all the considerations to which a western tire would be subjected. Sand, alkali, oil and rock roads—all were coped with in manufacturing their tire.

It is indeed good news to motorists to hear of this new price drop at a time when it is being rumored about that tire prices are soon to advance.

STANDARD GARAGE GETS 'GOOD BOY' LETTER

The largest chunk of pleasure that can possibly come into the life of the garage man is for a client, over whose car he has toiled faithfully, come back or write back and tell him what a good job he did in fixing up the old "boat." Letters of this kind, usually, are so few and far between that when they do land they tear a hole clear into the garage man's heart.

Here's a letter that was received this week by Webster & Sleeper, proprietors of the Standard garage, corner Kenwood and Broadway:

"I am taking this means of informing you of my satisfaction in the recent work of overhauling that you did on my Cleveland car. I find the car now running equally as well if not better than when new."

"I shall be very glad to recommend you to any one, as I feel confident that you thoroughly understand your business."

FOR GROUCHES ONLY
How much does your car cost per smile? That's what counts. It isn't the number of miles you get out of the car, not the cost of them, but the satisfaction you get per dollar expended. It costs some folks the price of a new car to get one good smile, which lasts long enough for one "look me over" ride down the boulevard Sunday afternoon. Others can get a smile out of a mill's worth of gas tuning up the engine. Where do you come in? Better investigate.

KEEPING THE CLUTCH DISENGAGED
It is necessary to depress the clutch pedal when applying dressing or cleaning the friction surfaces. This usually means that one must disengage the clutch while the other applies the dressing or treatment. To simplify the operation, it is a good plan to force down the pedal by means of a stick pressed against the front seat and the pedal.—Automobile Digest.

WILL ENFORCE PARK REGULATIONS

In the creation of all national parks, congress has wisely seen fit to preserve not only the natural features and curiosities of the reservations, but also the game and wild life therein, and the secretary of the interior is charged with the promulgation of regulations by which these reservations can be maintained as game refuges where hunting is prohibited.

Lassen Volcanic National Park was created by act of Congress in 1916, but heretofore insufficient funds have been appropriated for the carrying out of the proper enforcement of hunting regulations. A representative of the National park service is now on the ground and the regulation prohibiting hunting in the park will, from now on, be strictly enforced and the park maintained as a game sanctuary.

The regulation pertaining to the prohibition of hunting states: "The park is a sanctuary for wild life of every sort, and hunting, killing, wounding, capturing or frightening any bird or wild animal in the park is prohibited. Firearms are prohibited in the park except on written permission of the superintendent."

Visitors to the park are urged to co-operate with the park officials in the enforcement of this regulation and in this way they will assist the government in the protection of game and wild life therein.

Any car owner with an insured 1915 machine who sees a car thief pass along to the machine parked ahead,

WORTH REMEMBERING

When the oil leaks up past the washer of a spark plug don't imagine that your engine has begun to pump oil. If the plugs were not in tight, or if the washers were faulty, there would be oil at every plug, particularly after long uphill pulls. Use a new washer if the plug still leaks, or use two. You would have the trouble with an old washer even if the plug seemed to be tight.

If your private garage receives much sunshine through the windows in the doors watch out for the paint on the rear of the car. The faded rears of cars are very largely due to the burning rays of the sun, whether shining directly through or magnified by the glass. Shades on the inside of the doors are about the best investment you can make in the work of keeping the paint bright and new.

NEW OAKLAND AGENT TAKES CHARGE OF DISTRIBUTING AUTO HERE

MAKES JAUNT FROM EAST IN OAKLAND

New Agent Falls in Love With Glendale at First Sight; "Folks Here Are Thoroughbreds," Says He; Wants to Live and Work Here

Five thousand miles in an Oakland coupe and a trip to Glendale have changed the destinies of one man at least, and this man is Thos. E. Ricketts, who has just been awarded the franchise for the sale of Oakland motor cars in Glendale, to succeed H. Wray Fredman.

Ricketts was for many years connected in various capacities with the General Motors interests in New York city, and he yearned to see California. Packing up his belongings and sharing the front seat with a companion, he set out for the West in an Oakland five-passenger coupe. His wandering through the various wonderlands took him more than 5000 miles—5872 miles to be exact and he landed in California, a very much sold man as far as the Oakland was concerned.

Fate led him to Glendale, and so thoroughly convinced was he that this was the place where he should cast his lot that he immediately drove his stake, pitched camp and proceeded to join the big band of boosters for Glendale. But boosting alone wouldn't provide a livelihood nor an income for him so he retraced his experiences on his trip westward and there came to him the idea that he could make a big success selling the Oakland. Hadn't the car done everything that he asked of it on his trip? Wasn't he convinced it was the greatest car built at anywhere near the price? It was indeed and now for the question of getting the line.

He immediately opened negotiations with Fredman, the past Oakland dealer and then completed them with the California Oakland Motor company, with the result that he secured the exclusive franchise for the Oakland in Glendale. He will maintain the present Oakland quarters, but will institute many innovations both in merchandising and in rendering service to owners.

"My present position makes me regret two things. First, that I didn't come to Glendale years ago, and second, that I haven't had the Oakland agency here ever since the town was first built," says Ricketts. "I think that Glendale has a remarkable future ahead of it and this future is going to be reflected in the big demand that is bound to be developed for the Oakland. Fate has certainly been kind to me and I hope to repay her by rendering a real service to this community through giving motorists a brand of service that will open their eyes in amazement and satisfaction."

"I know what the Oakland is. I slept with one for 5872 miles and it was a friend that I could always depend upon. Never once did it falter in fulfilling the duty imposed on it during our hard trip across the continent from New York, by way of Yellowstone park and Portland."

"On our trip we used only 32 3/4 gallons of gasoline, averaging exacting 18.15 miles per gallon and when you consider that for days we plowed through mud and washouts in North Dakota and Montana, and in two instances actually pulled bigger and heavier cars out of bad places, this mileage is exceptional."

WHO IS BUYING CARS THESE DAYS?

Motorists who are busy making the old car do another year naturally wonder who's buying all the automobiles. Production is at a mark never before attained, and sales are keeping place in excellent shape. No one will admit that money has suddenly commenced to come easy to the average man, yet automobiles require money, and they are being bought up at a remarkable rate.

There are four big reasons why cars are now selling at this mad pace. They are unusually attractive this year, they are priced fairer than at any time in the history of motordom, they can be bought on a shoestring, and everyone has decided that a car is too desirable a possession to do without.

The last reason is first in importance. For years people have denied themselves automobiles, in the belief that they had no business spending their money for private transportation. But the Joneses have stepped right along, and the rest of the neighbors feel obligated to keep up with them. When a nation suddenly decides to motor, that settles it. Price, models and methods of payment are secondary.

Just how many of these people who are buying cars should buy is another matter. Time will tell. The experienced owner has learned to motor logically and he has good reason to suspect that the new members of the motor clan may be a bit reckless. It is to be hoped that manufacturers and dealers will see the wisdom of urging new customers to put motoring on a more substantial basis; otherwise the damage done to motor transportation as a result of extravagant buying may be sufficient to throw the industry back to a position from where it will have to repeat much of its efforts.

INCREASED SALES FOLLOWS CUT IN PRICE

"Following the recent reduction in the price of all Philco batteries, there has been an immediate increase in sales. It has shown in a most convincing manner that motorists follow values very closely. When they learned that a well-known standard battery could be purchased for the same price as batteries made especially to sell on a price basis, it left no question at all in their minds, and they flocked into Philco stations," said Mr. Penner of Penner Brothers, 601 South Brand, local agent for the Philco battery.

"Many motorists were pleased to learn that Philco batteries could be had with one, one and a half and two-year guarantees. Therefore, the motorists who planned on buying a new car in a short while saved money by installing a Philco battery with a one-year guarantee. The motorist who planned on driving his car several years more, found that by purchasing a two-year guarantee battery, he could save money because the monthly service cost of a two-year battery was less than that of a one-year guarantee battery."

"The idea of paying so much a month for battery service over a period of time with the reward of many extra months of service, if proper care were taken of the battery, appealed to a great many car owners. Here was a case of knowing that your battery could cost no more than the amount paid for a definite length of time, but by coming in regularly for testing service, the owner might obtain many additional months of service from the battery."

HOW TO CARE FOR BEARINGS

It is a safe rule to go by. "Main bearings should not be taken up unless they are scraped in." There are several reasons why this statement is a fact. Bearings are never in need of taking up unless they are worn until they do not fit. The wear has been caused by either too great strain or surface wear. If the face of the bearing has caused wear it is because there is grit, carbon or some other abrasive in the bearing. The alignment of the base bearings is invariably bad because all of the surfaces cannot wear down alike. As soon as one bearing is loose that journal whips and distorts the alignment still more. Thus if you take up bearings without scraping, the surfaces are much like sandpaper. Under the microscope it looks like a bar of soap which has been dropped in sand. Taking up causes more rapid wear. If bearings are taken up without scraping the crankshaft is running in a distorted line, and this will either tear out the bearings or cause the crankshaft to crystallize and finally break. It costs more in a year to take up the bearings as often as necessary, if they are not properly scraped, than to have one thoroughly good job done which would last 15,000 miles or more. Besides, when bearings are properly scraped and aligned the engine runs with less gasoline, less vibration and in every respect better.

PROPER PLACEMENT OF BATTERY

Extreme care should be exercised when dry cells are used for ignition purposes to keep them in a dry place. Even though the cells may be new, any dampness will cause them to short circuit, and when this takes place there will be hard work starting the engine.

QUEEREST MOTOR CLUB

One of the queerest motor clubs in the world is the Desert Touring club of Alexandria, Egypt. This club has 15 members—including Albanian, British, French, Greek and Italian—and three cars. They tour thousands of miles over the Sahara.

NEW SEQUOIA PARK HIGHWAY

Sometime next year a four per cent grade road will roll into Sequoia national park, bringing closer to thousands the noble majesty of the giant sequoias. The steep road now in use is a long hard pull of 25 miles and not at all pleasant driving for the motorist unaccustomed to mountain gear shifting. Besides that the controls—up from 4 to 4:30 p. m., 7:30 to 12 m., 5:30 to 8:30 p. m. and down from 4 to 5 a. m., 2 to 3 p. m., 10 to 12 p. m., often occasion long waits for those unfamiliar with the time schedule. The new giant forest road will ascend the main fork of the Kaweah canyon, following along the north slope on easy grade and climbing to the Giant Forest plateau in the vicinity of Crescent meadows. It is under construction now.

The party who washes the new sedan with laundry soap and a "clean" rag.

OLD MECHANIC SAYS

"One of the hardest things for most drivers to learn is the easiest way of looking for car trouble. I see it demonstrated every day of the year. Only five minutes ago a chap spent a half hour removing a flat tire merely to find, when he had finished, that a new valve inside was all he needed."

"When anything goes wrong with the engine most car owners think of the most serious things first. If the car bucks they are sure a universal is coming loose, but never think of the spark plugs until they have ruined the carburetor trying to adjust it."

"When an inexperienced driver sees the motometer headin' for the roof he promptly tightens the fan belt to a point where it is more likely to break, pumps up the tire to a point where they are ready to blow out, has the oil changed and discusses the possibility of having carbon removed. The chap who has had experience just goes over to the washstand and gets some water for the radiator."

"The trouble is, you see, motorists get this gas, oil, water and air business drummed into their heads so often that they begin to imagine they've attended to them when they haven't. When something goes wrong, therefore, they think it has to be real trouble. And, believe me, a lot of them get real trouble before they get back to the primary stuff."

TO PREVENT LINE FROM TWISTING

There is but one way to prevent a line from twisting and that is to fasten a double swivel on line. Or better yet, a swivel of fairly good size with a snap fastener at one end. It is an easy matter to snap the lure in this and as most of baits have an extra swivel of their own, this affords ample swivels to keep the line free from kinks. When a line is badly twisted, remove it and sinker and let run back of boat or canoe or in the current if fishing from shore until all of line is off spool, then rewind back and the line will be free from twists. — Sportman's Digest.

THE "TROUBLE SHOOTER" GIVES TIMELY TIPS FOR TOURING

By E. H. SCOTT

The Tools and Spares to Carry on Your Tour

Previous articles have described just how to go over your car and make sure that mechanically it is in good condition. Now we are ready to make the final preparations and get our equipment together ready for the road.

With all the precautions you can take, little troubles are liable to occur even with the finest car made, and there is nothing more annoying than to have something go wrong on the road which could be fixed up on a minute or so, if only you had the tools to do the job with. There are also one or two accessories that should be carried.

Taking the accessories first, have you a spot light? If not, get one. For the tourist, the spot light is invaluable. Suppose you have tire or engine trouble on the road at night, the spot light can be turned around and directed so that you can perform the work necessary in a good light. When driving at night, the headlights will rarely illuminate the cross road signs, but with a spot light, you can focus the beam and read the sign without difficulty, in most cases without stopping the car. Then again, when you have to dim the headlights to pass another car, the spot light beam can be directed down and across the car in such a way that it does not dazzle those in the approaching car, yet lights up the road in front of you.

Last, but not least, the spot light will furnish you all the light you need for the tent. Be sure to get a light with at least 12 feet of extra cord or cable, so that you can carry it around to any part of the car where you need light.

Now take out the tool kit and go over it carefully. In addition to the special tools for certain parts, such as the wrench for the hub caps, etc., you will be wise to see that you have those listed below. With these you will be in a position to make any repair or adjustment on the road that is within the power of the average owner.

One large and one small adjustable wrench. Set of wrenches to fit all nuts on car. Special box spanner to fit the spark plugs. One medium sized hammer. One large and one small screw driver. Pair of cutting pliers. One medium sized pipe wrench. Hack saw blade. One each cold chisel, round punch, and centre punch. One flat file, square file, half round file, and one special magneto type file. Three good strong tire levers. Fire pump. Good lifting jack. Grease and oil gun. Small portable vice that will clamp to running board. Wire tow rope.

Your spares should include the following: At least one good spare tire mounted on wheel or rim. Two spare tubes in bags. Reserve supply of half a gallon of oil and half a gallon of gasoline. Small can of grease. Three or four tested spark plugs. One box of assorted split pins, washers, nuts and bolts. Spool of copper wire about 20 ft. Length of insulated spark plug cable about 10 feet long. Cake of American Family soap. Supply of rags of waste. Set of electric light bulbs and fuses. Fan belt.

All of these tools and spares can be packed away very compactly. Have your tools arranged in a canvas or leather roll and placed under the seat or where they can be gotten at easily when you need them. If tools are placed where they are hard to get at, it tempts you to put off tightening up nuts and bolts or making some small repair, and perhaps results in some part breaking or working loose, causing serious damage. Tools like the screw driver, pliers and adjustable wrench should be carried in the pocket of a door or where they can be reached at once when you need them.

Don't forget to carry a good supply of rags or waste or the soap. The soap comes in useful not only for washing purposes, but will also help you to make a temporary repair if you are unfortunate enough to crack a gasoline pipe or have a leaking connection. Soften the soap and plaster it around the crack or connection, then wind a strip of rag or some insulating tape all around. The rags will enable you to pack the tools so that they will not rattle about.

The tow rope is not absolutely necessary unless you are going on a long trip, but in any case it is a handy thing to have on a car. You never know when you will have to make a detour or strike a muddy stretch of road, and the tow rope might be just the thing about all others that you need. If you are not carrying mud chains (and you should) the tow rope can be used to wrap around the tire and pull you out.

Be sure about your spare spark plugs. Take new ones preferably, or if the plugs have been used, be sure that they are clean and test them to see that they are all right. Most owners think they have spare plugs, but when they come to look for them in time of trouble they discover that what they really have is half a dozen oily, fouled up, defective plugs that have never been cleaned, and which you cannot depend upon. Make sure that the spares you are going to carry are GOOD plugs.

Always use a box spanner to remove the spark plugs. If you use an open end wrench it is always liable to slip off and break the porcelain. It is a good policy also to use one particular make of spark plugs. Some plugs suit one engine better than another. It is always best to stick to the make and type of plug supplied by the manufacturer of your car. He knows better than anyone else what plugs suits his particular engine.

MISALIGNMENT OF WORM GEARING

Worm gear troubles all fall under one heading and that is misalignment. In order to operate properly, the worm must stand exactly central over (or under) the worm wheel and the axis of the worm must be exactly at right angles to the axis of the worm wheel. In the hour-glass type, the longitudinal center of the worm must also stand directly over or under the center of the worm wheel. In the straight type, a slight error in this point is permissible.

In some cases, the worm is mounted above the worm wheel, and in other cases, below it. In top mounted worms, the thrust of driving the car forward is taken at the rear of the worm, while in bottom mounted worms, it is taken at the front.

When the worm is mounted on ball bearings, the thrust, whether forward or backward, is taken principally by the rear bearing only, the front bearing being free to float and carry the radial load only. The worm is given a slight end play to allow for expansion when the car is in motion.—Automobile Digest.

HUNTER ENTHUSES OVER NEW MODEL

C. H. Hunter of this city is happy over the new model he is able to offer automobile purchasers in the new five-passenger sport touring car which has provided a new variety of Light Eight Oldsmobile especially adapted to family use. In the first place it is roomy—the five passengers are not squeezed together. In the next place it has a tonneau long enough to carry such baggage as a party of five will be likely to need and

IMPROVED COTTER BOLT

When a nut must be cotted on a new bolt or stud and the worker has no drill, the problem is one which seems to defy solution. Yet the solution is comparatively simple. If the bolt is slotted with a hacksaw, and then squeezed together at the top, the nut can be tightened and cotted without any danger of its working loose in the future. When a large cotter pin must be used, a wider slot can be cut if two blades, instead of one, are used in the hacksaw frame.—Automobile Digest.

with all this plenty of leg room is left in the front for the driver. It has many special features that will appeal to all acquainted with desirable points to be secured in cars and it will pay all intending buyers to give this a look over.

WHEN MOTORISTS Go Golf Gaping

Wherever the highway marks the boundary of the golf course one is sure to find the motorist "golf gaping." It is a new habit, and a rather unhappy one at that.

There is often just as much danger in a carelessly directed ball as there is in a carelessly handled automobile, and the motorist who watches the game from a position where the golfer either has to cramp his style in order to be careful, or forget the motorist if he is more intent upon playing the stroke, ought to bear in mind that he is just as definitely in line for trouble as a golfer would be were he to stand in the middle of a busy highway practicing mashie shots. "Golf gaping" is a nuisance for all concerned, and a source of danger. Where the highway touch-

LOOK OUT FOR THIS!

When leaving the car headed downhill, even if the machine is in gear, the emergency brake set and the wheels turned in toward the curb, don't park too close to the car ahead. In a recent case of this sort the car ahead, when pulling away, bumped the other car sufficiently to throw the gears into "neutral" and change the position of the wheels. The emergency didn't hold, and had it not been for the fact that the machine struck the fender of another car parked along the street, thus attracting the attention of people passing, the car would have raced down to the bottom of a very steep hill and been smashed to pieces.

es the course it is better for the motorist to keep his mind on the driver, and the golfer on the floater.

COUNTRY CLUB HEIGHTS, ON PICO BOULEVARD, IS OPEN

WONDER TRACT OF 714 LOTS ON CITY-TO-SEA ROAD THROWN ON MARKET

A. G. Smith and Senator Benjamin C. Sheldon, Subdividers of the Wing Ranch, Are Owners of This Mammoth Tract—Cream of Section

MARVIN SMITH CHOSEN AS SALESMANAGER

The Unprecedented Resale Profits Made in the Wing Tract Will Be Surpassed in Claim—Pico is the Shortest Route to Sea—Nothing Can Stop it

Country Club Heights, lying on Pico boulevard between Los Angeles and Santa Monica, right in the path of the greatest advancement that any section of the world has ever seen, is without doubt one of the brightest spots in this swiftly-moving Southern California, so far as residential and business investment possibilities are concerned.

Ever since Los Angeles was an infant, years and years ago, the trend of advancement has been toward the sea. It has constantly been pushing southwestward, restlessly spreading farther and farther out over the level and hilly stretches which, for hundreds of years, have been lying, waiting, for just the progress that is now being seen. That the great open spaces south-west of the Angel city are destined before a great while to be as thickly populated as the closer-in sections of Los Angeles is a fact that no one will dispute.

This wonderful section is even now in the process of transformation, a fact that is evidenced by the opening of the beautiful Country Club Heights, the first section of which comprises 714 large lots. This immense tract is being opened by A. G. Smith, an active real estate operator, of Glendale, and Senator Benjamin C. Sheldon, of Hollywood, who, it will be remembered, were the subdividers of the celebrated Wing ranch which, on account of the rapidity with which the lots were disposed, has been referred to as the "hot cake" tract. One hundred lots were sold in this tract in 90 days, this work establishing a record that has not yet been equalled in Glendale.

Marvin Smith, the hustling young realtor with the ever-present smile, who had charge of the selling of the lots in the Wing tract and who put that subdivision over in grand style, has been selected as sales manager for Country Club Heights. Marvin, who is a resident of Glendale, has the pep that is necessary to put a tract over in record style. He knows a bargain subdivision when he sees one—that's why he decided to take over the work of selling the bargain sites in this wonderful tract.

"You never saw such bargains in your whole life," said this capable sales manager, when seen this morning. "Think of it—business lots on Pico boulevard for $30 per front foot. It is almost beyond belief, but the owners of this property bought this entire tract so reasonable that they are able to pass on to the 'little man' the opportunity to get in on some of the profits that are absolutely sure to be made on Pico.

"Here's one thing you must never lose sight of—there is only one Pico boulevard. Only one—get that! And there is no place on this wonderful highway where lots can be secured at the prices we are selling these business sites at. Within a few years Pico will be lined with stores, then those same lots will be sold at ten times as much as we are asking for them today. These are not dreams, but conservative predictions. We believe there is no place in the entire of Southern California that offers such wonderful opportunities as does Pico boulevard.

"Don't forget that Pico boulevard is the shortest route between Los Angeles and Santa Monica," continued Mr. Smith, "and traffic of all kinds is bound to follow the shortest route possible. The travel right now on Pico is tremendous, but as the years wear away it is just as sure to grow as the sun is sure to shine. It simply cannot help it. And with this increased traffic comes business opportunities. All this combined with the residential growth that will be made in the country on either side of Pico, makes it a sure thing that there is absolutely nothing that can keep back that thoroughfare and the territory surrounding it."

Marvin Smith feels sure that the profits to be made in Country Club Heights in the way of real estate will be far outstrip any profits made in the Wing Orange Grove tract, and this notwithstanding the fact that in the Wing tract, profits were made within a few weeks as high as $3,000 per lot. Mr. Smith stated this morning that everything considered, the values that are being offered in the tract he is handling at this time are far in excess of those that were afforded in the Wing subdivision.

Among the factors that are assisting in making real values in the Country Club Heights tract is the proximity of the tract to three country clubs, from which the tract was named. The tract is immediately adjacent to the Rancho Golf club and the Hillcrest country club and within a very short distance of the California country club. Also, the Fox Film corporation has just purchased a large tract of land almost opposite the Country Club Heights, where it is expected to begin about September 1, the construction of a movie plant to cost $3,500,000. This, when finished, will be the largest film producing plant in the western part of the country. Another film producing aggregation to locate close to this tract is the Buster Keaton company, which will soon begin the construction of a modern picture producing plant.

A feature which shows the trend of affairs in the region of the Country Club Heights is the little city of 200 modern and up-to-date homes that has sprung up directly across the Pico boulevard from this tract. All of these homes were erected during the past eight months. It is expected that within a very short time at least 20 homes will be under construction in the Country Club Heights tract, and that the succeeding days will see more and more homes started and completed.

Although the business frontage on Pico boulevard is being pushed heavily at this time, the investment opportunities are by no means limited to this type of property. There are hundreds of choice residential lots which are being priced at from $750 to $900, all of which may be purchased on terms of 15 per cent down and the remainder spread over a period of five years. There is nowhere in the Pico boulevard section a locality where lots can be purchased on such unusual terms. Water, gas, electricity and graded streets are included in the prices that are being asked for these lots, so that when a person buys one of these homesites for residential or business purposes he can feel assured that everything is ready to "go."

An appealing feature about the Country Club Heights tract is that it is high. It is up above the surrounding country so that it can never be cut off from the cooling and refreshing breezes of the Pacific. This tract is one of the first to get the ocean breezes and nothing can deprive it of them.

Several shrewd investors of Glendale, some of whom profited by investments in the Wing tract have followed Mr. Smith down to the Country Club Heights, and have already made purchases in that subdivision. Among these are E. G. Warren, real estate broker, 300½ South Brand boulevard, who purchased four lots; Attorney G. H. Wende, with offices at 102-A East Broadway, six lots; Kauser & Brown, 115 West Broadway, four lots; T. J. Frambrough, 206 North Orange street, a local builder, two lots; George Marsh, 1249 South Central avenue, two lots. There are other Glendale people who are contemplating the purchase of lots in the Country Club Heights tract.

MEXICAN CROPS SHOW INCREASE

[By Associated Press] MEXICALI, Lower California, Aug. 4.—A better crop year than in several seasons is indicated in Sonora and Sinaloa, states of Mexico, by shipments arriving from Guaymas and other west coast points on steamers plying the Gulf of California with supplies for Lower California, most of which are trucked from Port La Bamba to this city. Grain, beans, potatoes, and tomatoes have furnished the bulk of several recent large cargoes, the balance being made up of liquors. The only slump these two sections received this year, farmers state, was in connection with the cantaloupe crop, upon which the aphos pest descended suddenly when the crop was about ready to be shipped. The entire crop was wiped out in less than 48 hours, the growers report. Of 900 cars ready to be shipped, less than 20 were saved.

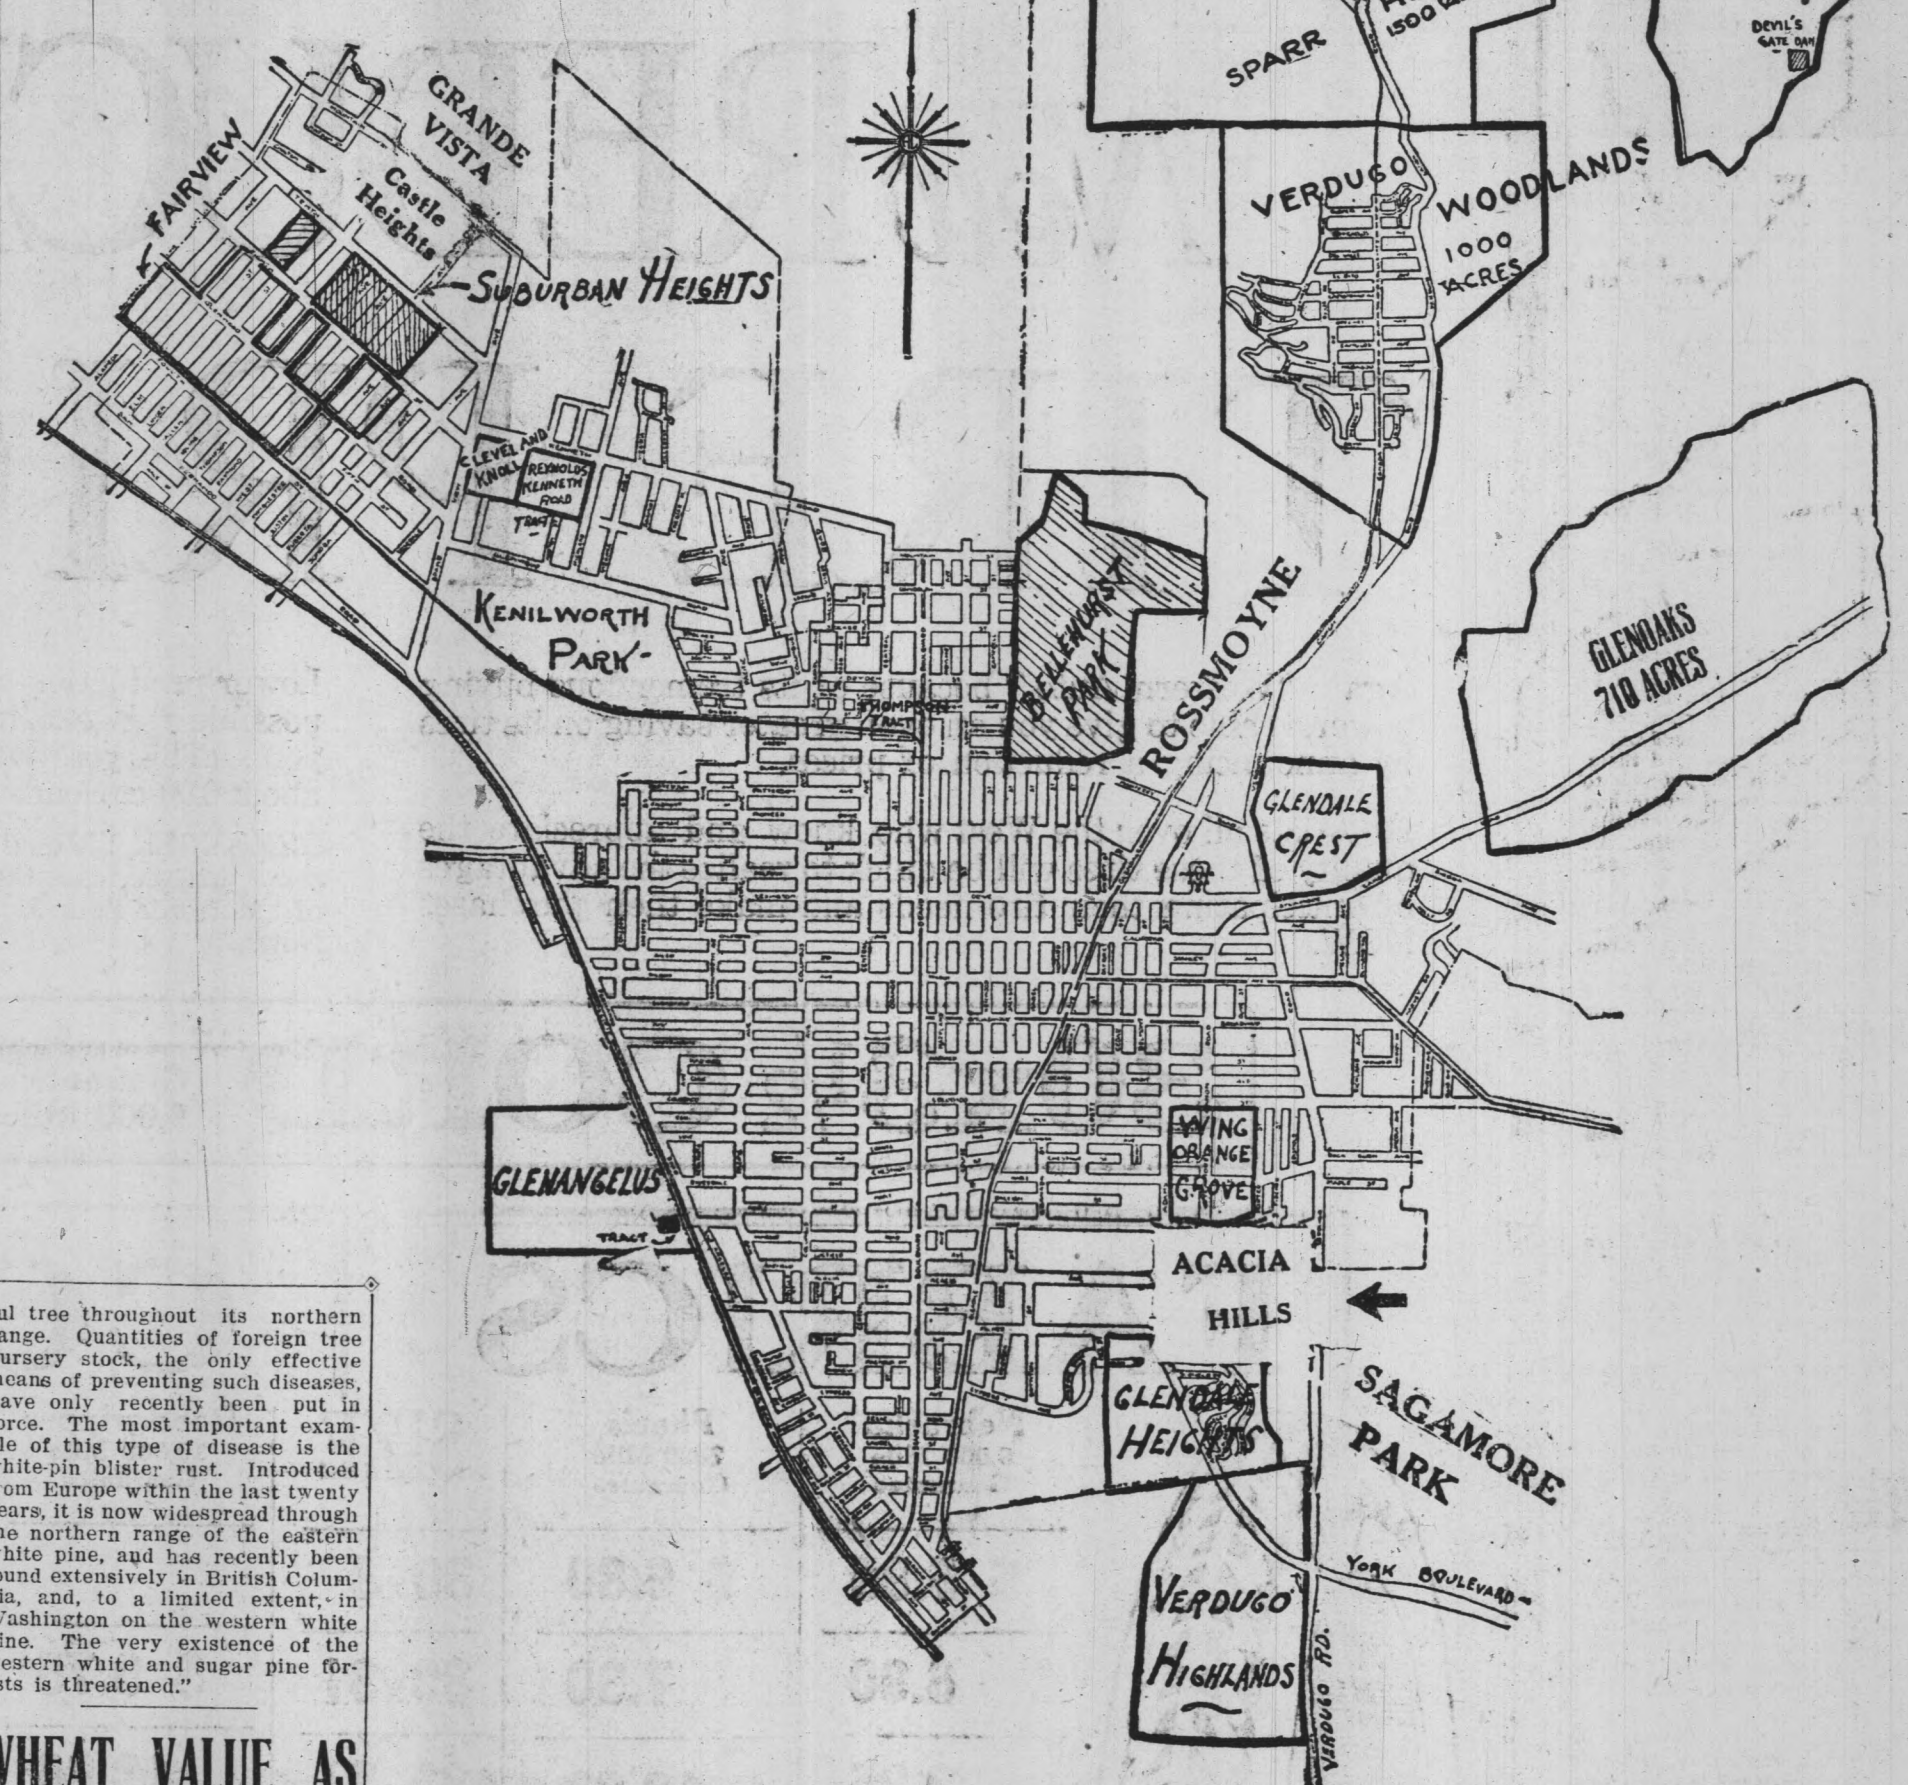

General farming activities in the two states are said to be 75 per cent in excess of last year's operations.

INSECTS' GREAT FOREST MENACE

[By Associated Press] SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 4.—The protection of forests and forest products from insects is of scarcely less importance than their protection from fire, says the forest service, United States department of agriculture, in a statement issued here. Losses due to insect attacks upon living trees and crude, finished and utilized forest products are estimated by the forest service at $130,000,000 annually. The western pine beetle, the gypsy moth, the chestnut blight and the white-pine blister rust are the most damaging of the insects and diseases which are now attacking the trees and forest products, according to the forest service. "By far the most serious menace of disease to forest crops at the present time lies in the imported epidemic," states the forest service. "The chestnut blight, imported from eastern Asia on nursery stock in the early nineties, has all but exterminated this use-

RENO BUILDING BIG RESERVOIR

[By Associated Press] RENO, Nevada, Aug. 4.—Actual construction of a reservoir for the creation of a lake with a surface area of 12,000 acres, or approximately 50 square miles, will be started January 1, 1924, according to Engineer Ferd Donnell, of the U. S. reclamation service, in charge of the work. The total cost will be $4,000,000, of which $1,000,000 will be spent in 1924, it is said. A crew of surveyors, under the direction of Ferd Donnell, is at work, locating the ditch line from the Truckee river to the site of the Spanish Springs reservoir. A board of appraisers is checking up the value of the rights of way through lands to be passed through by the canal, or submerged by the reservoir. The reclamation service will shortly make offers to the owners of such land, it has been announced. It doesn't pay to hurry. Take your time—and don't take other people's.

WHEAT VALUE AS STOCK FEED TOLD

With a big crop of low-priced wheat in view for the call market, there is particular interest in what Prof. Howard Hackedorn of the State College of Washington has to say regarding the value of wheat for feeding livestock.

"The feeding value of wheat compares very favorably with that of corn," says Mr. Hackedorn. "The higher price commanded by wheat as a product for direct human consumption has generally prohibited its use as a profitable stock feed. "Wheat is higher than corn in its protein, or muscle-building content. It is a little higher in ash, or bone building material, and in net energy material or starch matter. Wheat, like corn, is not a complete feed, and should be combined with these latter feeds are not too expensive. To give the best results for most classes of livestock, except sheep, wheat should be cracked or rolled. It has the disadvantage of gumming when fed to cattle or horses, which difficulty with the harder wheats can be overcome by mixing it with cut hay, silage or bran.

"Wheat has been used quite successfully in rations with most classes of livestock which are being fitted for the show and sale rings. One of the standard mixtures for fitting calves and lambs for the show ring at the State College is 3 pounds of oats, 2 pounds of wheat, 1 pound of peas, 1 pound of millrun and 1 pound of linseed oil meal."

Canada Building Up Auto Export Trade

[By Associated Press] OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 4.—Automobiles manufactured in Canada numbered 101,007 in 1922, according to a report just compiled by the dominion bureau of statistics. This was an increase of 53 per cent over the 1921 output.

The total value of the cars manufactured, the figures show, was $81,056,429. Capital invested in the industry amounted to $13,331,084. Materials utilized in construction had a value of $54,408,719. Wages amounted to $13,331,084 and 7,334 persons were employed in the industry during the year.

The automobile industry has experienced a remarkable development in Canada in the last five years. Production has practically doubled since 1917. Capital invested has increased nearly 100 per cent in the period, and the value of production has grown from $54,466,273 to $81,056,429. Most of the automobile manufacturing in Canada are sold in the Dominion, although a prosperous export trade is being built up with South America, the United Kingdom, Australia, South Africa, Mexico, Norway, Sweden and the Netherlands. Automobiles registered in Canada now number 514,072. The Dominion stands second to the United States as the greatest automobile owning nation. Canada, like the United States, has a large percentage of automobiles on farms. In many districts in the prairie provinces where settlement has been rapid in recent years, nearly 75 per cent of the automobiles are owned on farms.

COOKING AND EATING APPLES; WHICH? WHEN?

Some kinds of apples are good for both cooking and eating, while others are best one way or the other. Prof. O. M. Morris, head of the horticulture department of the State College of Washington, with Miss Maude Wilson, assistant extension director, and E. G. Wood, extension specialist in horticulture, have compiled a list of the leading varieties in Washington orchards, in order of preference, which they recommend.

In October and November, they say, eat Delicious, Gravenstein, Jonathan, King David, Grimes Golden and Winter Banana; and cook Jonathan, Grimes Golden, Gravenstein and King David. In December and January, eat Delicious, Spitzburg, Jonathan, Grimes Golden, Winter Banana, White Pearmain, Stayman Winesap, Wagener, Rome Beauty or Ortley; and cook Jonathan, Spitzburg, Rome, Wagener, Grimes Golden, Red Cheek or Ortley.

In February the best eating apples are Spitzburg, Rome, Stayman Winesap and Black Twig; and for cooking, Spitzburg, Rome, Stayman Winesap and Black Twig. In March eating apples that are best are Winesap, Yellow Newtown, Rome Beauty, Black Twig and Arkansas Black; cooking, Rome, Winesap, Newtown, Black Twig, Arkansas Black and Black Ben. April, May and June and the apple year with the following for eating: Winesap, Black Twig, Arkansas Black and Yellow Newtown; and for cooking, Winesap, Newtown, Black Twig, Black Ben and Arkansas Black.

IDAHO EXPECTS '24 AUTO RUSH

[By Associated Press] BOISE, Idaho, Aug. 4.—Idaho state officials expect about 57,000 motorists to apply for license tags in 1924, and they have contracted for that many pairs of the plates to be delivered with the privileges of ordering 10,000 more if needed. The color combination of the plates next year is black and yellow, the figures to be black. The plates will be delivered to the state under contract for 13.97 cents a pair.

Ship Live Fish 125 Miles Across Desert to Markets

[By Associated Press] MEXICALI, Lower California, Aug. 4.—Mullet, of which fish there are great schools in the waters of the Gulf of California below the Colorado river delta, are now being transported alive in tank trucks over the intervening 125 miles of arid desert, and reshipped from here by express to the various fish markets of the country. Sea bass, weighing from 125 to 300 pounds, and turtle tipping the scales at from 200 to 500 pounds, are to follow in their season. Fishermen of wide experience pronounce the Gulf of California on the Lower California side the most prolific in all kinds of fish and shell fish on the entire west coast of the Pacific Ocean.

STANFORD CHANGES LOCATION

Builds Homes Here For 13 Years—Sell as Fast As Completed

SEES CITY GROW

Moves to 108 West Bdw. Where Office is Modern

Thirteen years ago in 1910 when J. F. Stanford moved to Glendale he had a vision of seeing a real city grow up in close proximity to Los Angeles. Backing his vision he began buying lots and building the attractive houses which have made him so well known in Glendale. The hundreds of home places he has developed have found a waiting market and have added much to the growth and beauty of our city.

Mr. Stanford has recently found it necessary to enlarge his office space and has moved from 112½ South Brand boulevard to 108 West Broadway. When the interior of the office has been finished he will have a most convenient and inviting headquarters.

The demand for property and the opportunity for building have increased greatly in the new location. The many inquiries coming to the office indicate a continuance of the splendid business which this pioneer realtor of Glendale has built up by his straightforward methods in building, general real estate and insurance.

North Australia Makes Success of Cotton Plant

[By Associated Press] SYDNEY, N. S. W., Aug. 4.—Experiments in cotton raising in New South Wales have been so successful as to more than double the cotton acreage in the estimate for next year. This increase in acreage is due to the discovery that cotton grows better under the conditions existing in the northern parts of the Australian continent than in other sections.

The cotton grown experimentally in the North Australian districts brings about one cent a pound more than that of other sections. In addition to producing a higher grade of cotton, the plants have been most prolific, and at Bonahall, as many as 320 bolls have been obtained from a single plant.

The estimated cotton acreage for next year in New South Wales is 35,900 acres, and a ready market already awaits this growth, for the English spinners are eager to buy cotton grown within the empire.

Although it may be many years before the effect of Australian cotton will be felt in the world's market, the experimental stage has been passed and it is expected that great strides will be made in production during the next decade.

Another important factor, less to the liking of the great English mill owners, is the appearance of a few independent mills in Australia. While the production of these mills is at the present time insignificant, they are capable of growing with the increased domestic cotton production.

MEXICAN ELECTION TO PROVE RIGHT TO RECOGNITION

By A. L. BRADFORD

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, August 4 (United Press).—Mexico today is rapidly approaching another great test of her stability.

This test will finally come in the presidential elections to be held in the rich Southern Republic, in August, 1924.

Already, the preliminary moves in the coming elections have created a tense situation in the country below the Rio Grande.

A president is prohibited by law from succeeding himself in Mexico, and therefore President Obregon is due to turn over the reins of government to another at the inauguration in December, 1924.

General Plutarco Elias Calles, minister for interior affairs in President Obregon's cabinet, is at present the outstanding figure in the presidential situation. He is making strenuous efforts to lay the foundation for his nomination for president by the Cooperatista party, the strongest in Mexico.

However, Calles is said to be meeting with strong opposition. It is declared that his activities in the interest of his candidacy for president are being strongly resisted by those who regard him as too much of a radical.

Adolfo de la Huerta, the minister of finance in Obregon's cabinet, is another outstanding figure in the presidential situation although it is understood that as yet he has taken no definite steps. de la Huerta's friends are said to be pressing him to seek the nomination.

A final clash between the forces of Calles and de la Huerta is foreseen by some quarters here in close touch with the Mexican situation. However, to avoid open hostilities, a "dark horse" might be selected.

Also, the assassination of "Pancho" Villa, Mexico's famous bandit chieftain, comes at a time when the daring desperado, although having lived as a "country gentleman" since the first of President Obregon's regime, was beginning to have an increasingly important position in the Mexican presidential situation.

Villa, shortly before his death, is said to have sent word to de la Huerta, urging the latter not to allow himself to be "bluffed" by Calles, and indicating that he, Villa, would support de la Huerta. It is claimed that Villa's supporters and sympathizers embrace half the northern states of Mexico, with the exception of Sonora, and that, therefore, "Pancho" held the balance of power.

Particularly was Villa's position said to be powerful because of his military strength. There was a large number of ex-soldiers ready to rally to his banner. Besides, Villa is supposed to have had large stores of arms and ammunition. Villa is said to have declared not long before his death that if Calles became president, he, Villa, would better leave the country.

In view of the present state of affairs developing in Mexico and the fact that already there have been some armed clashes over the political situation, it is believed probable here that both the Harding administration in Washington and President Obregon in Mexico City want to have the differences between the two countries settled and recognition extended as soon as possible because of the possibility that a settlement will be

Abolition of Death Penalty Brings Increase in Crime

[By Associated Press]
BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 4.—Argentina abolished the death penalty from the penal code about a year ago, and since then there has been a noticeable increase in crimes of violence in this city. The question of restoring the death penalty has arisen, and a bill to this end has been introduced in congress.

Large numbers of emigrants from Europe, many of them belonging to the criminal classes, have come to Argentina recently, and the present crime wave is attributed to this undesirable element.

come impossible once a crisis has developed over the Mexican presidential elections.

According to quarters here opposed to the candidacy of Calles, President Obregon about two months ago, fearing that the presence of his minister for interior affairs in Mexico City might embarrass the negotiations in the so-called "recognition conference" there, sent Calles to San Francisco on a mission.

Calles, however, did not remain long in San Francisco, soon returning to Mexico and going to the state of Nuevo Leon. In the recent election of governor of that state there were three candidates, Porfirio Gonzales, Alfredo Perez and Aaron Saenz, the last a friend of Calles. Gonzales is reported to have received a majority of the votes.

Said to have been inspired by Calles, Saenz contested the election, and Calles' visit to Nuevo Leon is declared to have been for the purpose of rounding up the legislature to declare Gonzales' election void. Gonzales is supposed to have the backing of de la Huerta.

Calles is said to be further embittered at lack of support for his candidacy from President Obregon. However, Obregon is understood to take the attitude that he will refuse to have any part in either the presidential nominations or elections and will give his support to no particular candidate. But this is interpreted by Calles' friends as meaning that Obregon is opposed to him.

General Calles also is charged with attempting to dictate the elections in the state of San Luis Potosi, where his candidate for governor is Jorge Prieto Laurens, opposed by Aurelio Manrique, a member of the national congress and a supporter of de la Huerta. As the result of the deep feeling in this campaign, several armed clashes have taken place.

While not desiring to interfere in the political situation, President Obregon has taken notice of the state of affairs in Nuevo Leon and is reported to have sent a letter to the federal attorney general there calling attention to the prevailing lawlessness in that state as a result of the political bitterness.

"It seems to me strange," Obregon stated in this letter, "that the friends of General Porfirio Gonzales should resort to arms to sustain their candidate when as yet the elections in that state are not definitely settled."

Obregon then pointed out that it was inconceivable that a candidate who was sure of commanding the majority of votes would feel called on to use force to secure a victory at the polls.

A number of former generals of the late President Carranza have been meeting in Mexico City to determine what their stand will be in the forthcoming presidential elections.

Claims Elimination Of Radio Interference

[By Associated Press]
LONDON, Aug. 4.—An instrument which, it is claimed, marks the most important advance in wireless telegraphy yet made, is described by its inventor, a Frenchman named Yves Marrec, as eliminating jamming and interference and reducing the cost of wireless message by at least one-third.

The new device receives and prints wireless messages on a tape, something which, it is claimed, has never before been accomplished.

M. Marrec employs a supplementary apparatus consisting of a series of low-frequency valves, which eliminates all obtruding sounds one by one, with the result that the message for which the machine is "tuned in" comes out as clearly as though there were only one operating station in the world. Besides suppressing "parasitic" noises, the apparatus completely eliminates every interfering message sent out from other transmitting stations.

In an official test for the British government recently, the French inventor submitted his machine to the most severe conditions. He received messages from the powerful station near Port Jefferson, Long Island, free of all interference or jamming. He chose for the test an ordinary office in one of the noisiest parts of London, with electric trains and motor traffic running all around and under it. Moreover, he had no outside aerial. The "purified" messages were received so distinctly that the sounds could be heard several yards from the earpieces.

In messages from the United States, M. Marrec explained, each letter has now to be repeated three times and each word twice, after which they still require to be deciphered by a keen expert. Under the new system, according to the inventor, a message need be sent only once, and it is recorded in ink on paper. Transmitting stations of immense power and great cost, such as the American and British governments propose erecting, could be replaced by a series of lower power stations transmitting automatically.

SUGAR WILL BRING $70,000,000 TO HAWAII THIS YEAR
HONOLULU, Aug. 4.—"King Sugar," monarch of Hawaiian products, will pour approximately $70,000,000 into the territory this year, an increase of almost 40 per cent over the gross return from this product last year, according to the estimates of prominent planters.

All except a few mills in the territory have completed their grinding for the season, and the combined output is certain to exceed 500,000 tons, a decrease of approximately 100,000 tons from the production of last year, which is laid to the plantation laborers' strike of 1920, when most of the 1923 crop was planted.

The average price for last year's crop, however, was $92.36 a ton, as compared with this year's estimated average price of between $130 and $140 a ton.

Planters here have pointed out that the value of the Hawaiian sugar crop approximately equals the production of silver in the United States, which usually averages between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000 annually, although it rose in 1915 to $77,036,170.

With the large increase in the sugar income it is estimated that Hawaii's exports to the mainland United States this year will aggregate $100,000,000, as the pineapple pack will bring $25,000,000 and other miscellaneous products approximately $5,000,000.

ICED DRINKS O. K. SAY DIETITIANS

Every sound sensible theory has among its adherents those who carry it to extremes. Probably there is no better example of this than the various dietetic fads which arise from a misunderstanding of the scientific principle involved. At one time, calories were regarded by many people as the only index to the health value of any food. Later, vitamins occupied the center of the dietetic stage.

As a point of fact, however, the very basic precept of any theory of dietetics is that man is omnivorous and requires a diet composed not of any one kind of food, but a sensible balance of all kinds. Moreover, it is extremely important that the food be pleasing to the person who consumes it. Physiologists say that food, eaten merely out of a sense of duty or in adherence to a strict dietetic formula, does not supply nearly the amount of nourishment as does the food which genuinely appeals to the appetite and taste of the person concerned. In nine cases out of ten the appetite of a normal person is the best guide to what he should eat.

During these hot summer months it is only natural that a person should desire iced drinks. In days past these were considered harmful. Not because they were cold, however, but because the ice used was usually cut from ponds or rivers and contained bacteria. Today, with modern methods of ice manufacture, the ice you use in tea or lemonade is usually purer than drinking water. Just enough ice to chill the drink should be used. For, curious as it may seem, an extremely cold drink produces a physiological reaction which makes the person really feel warmer after he has consumed it. To alleviate thirst and to secure the greatest cooling effect, use ice and consume the drink slowly.

The milk of human kindness is usually of a poor quality and there's little in the can.

MISS HELEN WILLS IS WONDER PLAYER
BERKELEY, Cal., Aug. 4 (United Press).—Local friends of Miss Helen Wills, wonder-tennis player, are watching with interest, her work in the east during the fall tournaments, which opened July 30 with the invitation tourney of the Seabright Lawn Tennis club.

Miss Wills is declared to be the real hope of America of keeping the titles up this fall in this country. Mrs. Molla Mallory has not been in good form this season at all, and has been defeated by several English women, as well as having fallen before Suzanne Lenglen's competitors, who were defeated by Suzanne.

Miss Wills during play last year was ranked as a girl, for she was only half-grown, but even then rated as third woman tennis player in the land. This year, fully grown, with more speed and confidence, it is hoped she brings the coast a national title.

Paderewski Buys Tickets for His Own Performance

[By Associated Press]
PARIS, Aug. 4.—Ignace Jan Paderewski, the famous Polish pianist and composer, received one of the warmest welcomes accorded him since his return to the concert stage when he appeared before a Paris audience recently. Thousands of people thronged to see him pass on his way to the theatre, and he was again besieged when the concert, a benefit affair, was concluded.

The French press re-told at great length the story of how the noted artist was expelled from Russia years ago by Emperor Alexander III, after Paderewski had played before the court.

"You are a great artist, and an honor to Russia," the emperor is reported to have said.

"Pardon, Your Majesty," replied Paderewski, "to Poland."

The next day the pianist received an order to leave Russia, and he had never returned since. The newspapers here also mentioned the fact that on the day of his first concert, Paderewski drove to the theatre box office and purchased nearly a hundred seats at regular prices, which he distributed among his friends.

His only request to the management was that he be given a dressing-room, so that he could let his hands soak in very hot water for half an hour before the concert. He explained that he had found this the best way to make them supple.

NEW SEASIDE PROPERTY HOLDS VAST OPPORTUNITY FOR HOMES AND BUSINESS

Washington-Venice Tract, Located Close to the Cheerful Wavelets, Combines Many Features
That Naturally Appeal to the Wise Buyer

ON WASHINGTON BLVD.—L. A. TO THE SEA

Lots Are Marked Way Down, With On-Third
Cash and Balance in Two Years—All Improvements Included in the Prices Asked

The Washington-Venice tract, a subdivision filled to the brim with the finest homesites imaginable, is commanding the attention of shrewd buyers in and around Los Angeles. Not many weeks ago this tract was first announced, but so convincing are the values offered that already a vast number of home and business sites have been disposed of.

As the name implies, this tract is located between Los Angeles and Venice, right in the path of advancement, which alone insures an increase of values and prices. The tract is owned by Kraemer & Stark, subdividers, 819 Loew State building, Los Angeles. A boulevard 175 feet in width, through the center of a parked strip 25 feet wide, planted to lawn and tropical and semi-tropical trees and shrubs and flowering plants; 25 feet at each side similarly treated; two 55-foot wide driveways paved with nine inches thick concrete faced with asphalt. Such is the plan of the Greater Washington Boulevard association.

The boulevard to its full width will extend from Rimpau street to the ocean. Construction is even now under way. Crews of men with teams and steam power machinery are working from Rimpau westward, grading and making ready for paving.

Eventually the boulevard will be extended through the city with a cross-town connection south on the congested district between Washington street and Stephenson avenue on the east side, and on to the Pomona valley and the Whittier district. That also is the plan of the practical business men who have organized themselves into the Greater Washington Boulevard association.

It is the aim to make Washington boulevard the main grand course from the city to the sea, such a boulevard as exists nowhere else in the world, and this is the main artery of travel not only between Los Angeles and the beaches, but connecting at Santa Monica with the new Coast boulevard through the Malibu ranch and on to Santa Barbara, thus becoming the main ingress and egress of travel to and from Northern California.

The plan includes, as well as increasing the width of the boulevard, tree planting, parking, ornamental lighting standards and other embellishments of the boulevard its entire length from Rimpau street to the ocean.

All power line and telegraph and telephone poles will disappear when the association plan of beautifying Washington boulevard has been carried into effect. All wiring will be run in conduits, and these and gas and water mains will be laid ahead of the paving to obviate the necessity to later tear up the street, the wasteful practice in the city.

People are buying homesites in Washington-Venice tract with the intention of living there and enjoying a "summer home by the sea," all the year around. Here you can revel in a delightful climate, not only during summer months, but 365 days of the year. Business men, wage earners, retired people, and all classes are rapidly populating the Venice beach district, many of them going back and forth from their work in Los Angeles. Washington-Venice tract offers unsurpassed advantages as an all-the-year-around home for anyone.

The P. E. short line to Los Angeles is only a block from this tract. A car line from Inglewood runs right by the tract. Washington boulevard, the shortest auto highway between Los Angeles and the beach, and what is to be the most beautiful thoroughfare in the world, is right at the door of Washington-Venice residents.

There is a tremendous profit in renting summer cottages at Venice. Here is a way to make money. Buy one of these large, roomy lots for a bungalow court or duplex. Put up your building and live here. Rent the other units and pay for

Mute Congregation to Have Church in Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—Chicago's most silent church congregation, composed of many of the 2,000 deaf of the city, will have a permanent church home when the new City Temple is dedicated, according to Rev. Philip J. Hasenstab, pastor.

The members of the deaf mission have been without a place of meeting of their own since the old First Church, on the site of the new edifice, was pulled down.

"But the deaf congregation still holds its services once a week," says Constance E. Hasenstab, assistant pastor. "Every Sunday afternoon they come together from all parts of the city for their worship service of Scripture reading, sermon and hymns in the sign language."

"There is an illustrated stereopticon lecture, and by watching the signs of the interpreter they enjoy programs of readings, plays and songs. We also have study courses with 35 members of the deaf congregation enrolled."

Twice every month the negro deaf meet at Hartzell center with a somewhat similar program to that given for the other members of the church.

Chicago's work for the deaf began in 1889. The permanent church was organized in 1893. The Rev. Mr. Hasenstab came here from the state school for the deaf at Jacksonville to organize a congregation. Recently the work has grown to include three state schools for the deaf in 50 cities.

You are getting hundreds of dollars worth of actual, permanent improvements with every lot. One-third down, balance in 2 years, interest at 7 per cent. These low prices and easy terms places a homesite within the reach of every person of ordinary means.

To get there drive west on Washington boulevard to the blue and yellow tract signs on the left-hand side of the boulevard about five blocks east of the ocean. The tract at this time (July, 1923) is sometimes called the "Aviation Grounds." Look for the aeroplanes. If you come via P. ### Origin of Rare Ceramics Shrouded in Mystery

[By Associated Press]
WASHINGTON, August 4.—One of the greatest puzzles in the study of the prehistoric American Indian is the nature of the people who made a wonderful type of pottery found in the Mimbres valley in New Mexico.

Dr. J. Walker Fewkes, chief of the bureau of American Ethnology of the Smithsonian Institution, recently returned from an investigation in the valley, but reported that he had learned absolutely nothing of the lost race whose ceramics, first found by him in 1913, are pronounced to be among the best ever unearthed in North America.

The figures of men and animals, birds, fish, reptiles and insects, as well as geometric designs of unusual excellence, decorate the pots, bowls and other household articles found by Dr. Fewkes. The representations of life are full of action, and it is difficult for scientists to understand how the ancient inhabitants of the valley were able to achieve the accuracy and perfection of the involved designs without the aid of mechanical devices.

The pottery has been found for the most part under the floors of the ruins of ancient buildings, and commercial exploitation of the material has become so widespread that the valley ruins are being rapidly demolished and the instructive archaeological objects lost to science. One reason for Dr. Fewkes' visit was to make a collection for the National Museum before the supply was exhausted.

LENDERS AT LOUISVILLE
NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (United Press).—The American Industrial Leaders' association will hold its annual convention at Louisville, Ky., Sept. 19, 1923.

The association membership is made up exclusively of those who lend money at the rates fixed by law and represents a combined estimated capital of about $60,000,000. The annual business done by the companies represented in the organization totals about $150,000,000. The association was organized nine years ago by leaders among "the poor man's bankers" to abolish abuses in their business, and by eliminating the loan shark to remove the stigma from the business. It has been estimated that 86 per cent of the adult population of the United States are without the credit facilities afforded by commercial banks and in any emergency requiring financing must have recourse to industrial lenders.

NO PARKING!
No motor vehicle should be parked at the entrance to hotels, theatres, office buildings, large stores and other buildings to which there is a great amount of coming and going.

IN CASE OF ACCIDENT
Every operator of an automobile should have some knowledge of first-aid methods and carry as a part of his equipment a small case of first-aid materials.
